Some Guard Units Face Mid-October Call

Sept. 15 Word Due Members

Some Reservists Also Face Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are that the Army will begin bringing into federal service by early or mid-October some of the 37 National Guard units which have been alerted for callup.

This seemed to be suggested in Army answers to questions today about possible methods for bringing alerted units up to full strength.

May Be 'Designated'

Under the law, a member of a reserve outfit or an individual reservist cannot be transferred involuntarily to a National Guard unit while that unit is still under control of a state. He may be assigned only temporarily for training.

However, he may be "designated" in advance, a spokesman explained. This means that he may be informed in advance that if and when a certain National Guard unit goes into federal service—and passes out from under state authority—he will be assigned as a filler to build up strength of that unit.

Fillers From Others

Cuba May Liken Guantanamo to French, Tunisia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Cuba is expected to use the Tunisian debate in the U.N. General Assembly as a springboard for a new attack today on the continued presence of the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo.

Informed sources said Cuban Delegate Mario Garcia-Inchaustegui would charge that the Navy base on the southeast coast of Cuba and other U.S. bases in Latin America threaten the security of Fidel Castro's regime.

The Soviet Union first injected the issue of U.S. bases into the assembly debate on French actions around their naval base at Bizerte, Tunisia. The Soviets charged the worldwide network of bases maintained by the United States and its allies was a menace to world peace and called for its immediate liquidation.

Need More Surveys On 'Shelter Caves'

If Kingston's limestone caves "prove suitable as fallout shelter" the city "will be fortunate indeed" says a Washington report made known today by Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

It was without commitment, indicating that much yet depends upon results of surveys. The Freeman learned last year, however, that federal engineers already have knowledge of the potentiality of area caves.

The mayor, in a recent letter, placed the city on record as interested in federal aid for defense shelter development, and the reply from Adam Yarmolinsky, a special assistant to Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, noted that surveys are still in progress.

Food Is Concern

"The expanded civil defense program," said the letter, "will concentrate on a survey, marking and stocking of fallout shelter space in existing structures, mines and caves."

It is not yet possible, however, said the letter "to determine whether Kingston will be eligible for federal help in equipping and supplying the cave because eligibility standards have not yet been established."

It was noted that "Until some information is available from the survey we do not propose to enter upon a program of shelter construction other than a pilot program of shelter construction in new federal buildings."

City on Record

The letter at least indicated that the city is on record, and concluded that it was "encouraging to hear that the city is going forward with the project of checking on the feasibility of using the caves, and we are sure

Indications Are Woman Victim Visited Suspect

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A 50-year-old divorcee apparently had been in the apartment of the prime suspect in her death the day she disappeared, Dist. Atty. Joseph Ryan says.

Charles Trudeau, also 50, an ex-convict, was described by Ryan as the prime suspect in the strangling of Mrs. Louise Temple, an attractive real-estate saleswoman. Ryan termed her death "designed murder."

Jailed as Violator

Trudeau was jailed on charges of violation of parole.

Mrs. Temple had shown Trudeau an expensive suburban home last Friday, telephoned her office that she had made a sale and then disappeared.

Her body was found Tuesday, crammed into the trunk of her car, which was in a hospital parking lot. She had been strangled with a piece of rope.

Ryan said a witness had seen Mrs. Temple Friday on Wescott Street, where Trudeau has an apartment. Mrs. Temple told the owner of the house that she was telephoning from Wescott Street. Ryan said this indicated she had been in Trudeau's apartment.

Meanwhile, police resumed today a search of Thornton Park and Oakwood Cemetery, areas

3 Auto Firms Hold Despite UAW Threat

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler stood pat today on their labor contract offers to the United Auto Workers against mounting pressure from the union that the companies come up with something better or face strike action.

Present contracts covering almost 500,000 workers at Big Three plants expire next Thursday night.

UAW leaders centered their fire on GM and Ford—the likeliest candidates for strike targets. In the meantime, UAW President Walter Reuther bargained under a lid of secrecy with American Motors Corp. on the company's profit-sharing offer.

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock filed unfair labor practice charges Wednesday against GM with the National Labor Relations Board here after the company for the third time rejected a union demand for information on prices and profits. Woodcock accused GM of failing to bargain in good faith. He said the union needed information on the company's price-profit formula to counter company claims the union's bargaining goals were inflationary.

UAW Vice President Ken Bannon told Ford its offer was "totally unacceptable." He said union negotiators would recommend its rejection by the UAW-Ford National Council, which has been called to meet here next Tuesday.

The UAW's executive board will meet on the same day to pick a target in event the union leadership decides to back up contract demands with strike action.

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president for personnel, called a news conference to defend the company's contract offer against a barrage of union criticism that it was "woefully inadequate."

Seaton accused Woodcock of "calculated misrepresentation of the facts."

Woodcock, in a union news conference that followed immediately said he stood by what he said and suggested that the company and union air their differences before some public body and determine the facts.

GM, along with Ford and Chrysler, offered UAW members a 7-cent hourly increase annually for the next three years and extra benefits in pensions, layoff pay and insurance.

Dutchess Fair Will Open Friday for Six-Day Run

The Dutchess County Fair opens Friday at 9 a. m. in Rhinebeck, and President Louis Fish Jr., said today that this 116th annual edition has prospects of being the largest and most varied in the fixture's history. It runs for six days and six nights, through next Wednesday, Aug. 30.

"If we just get a break with good August weather we can't miss," said Fish as he finished a tour of the vast showgrounds where cattlemen were grooming thir show herds, fruit and vegetable growers were preparing their exhibits, and Grangers and commercial firms were putting finishing touches on booths.

New picnic areas have been installed and extra tents have been put up to accommodate overflow exhibits—pressing into areas generally used for parking. But Richard C. Murray, head of grounds and exhibits, said even record attendance can be handled without difficulty.

The first and last days of the fair are children's days with children 12 and under to be admitted free to the showgrounds. All the grandstand shows are free to all 2 and 8 p. m. performances on all six days.

Cattle entries are expected to hit an all-time high and Samuel H. Bridges, chairman of the four horse shows, said he will have record entries if weather is favorable because inquiries have been received about post

Board Is To Rule On Banks

Found Innocent Of Duty Neglect

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—The law officer presiding at the court-martial of Col. William M. Banks, 46, today found him innocent of neglect in the collapse of a Texas Tower in the Atlantic Ocean Jan. 15.

The finding still is subject to approval by the board of officers of the court.

The court recessed after the finding by Col. Jean Rydstrom and was to resume later today for a decision by the eight officers comprising the board.

The prosecution concluded its arguments at 9:30 a.m. and the defense immediately moved for dismissal of the charge.

The collapse of the tower in a storm of the New Jersey coast cost 28 lives.

Rydstrom, as law officer, is, in effect, the judge of the court while the function of the eight-man board is essentially the same as that of a jury.

Banks, stationed at Stewart Air Force Base where the court-martial is being held, was in over-all charge of the tower.

A chief specification against Banks was that he failed to keep himself advised of storm threats and to keep in touch with the officer in direct charge of the tower.

Clifford Sheldon, one of two civilian defense attorneys, argued in his dismissal motion that regulations did not require Banks to keep himself advised but rather stipulated that staff members advise him of storm threats.

"How can you turn the tables upside down?" Sheldon asked.

Sheldon also hit at another specification that Banks had not kept himself available to receive advice.

Wednesday, an Air Force major testified at the court martial that he had a reputation among his superiors for being "overly nervous about the condition of the Texas Tower.

The witness was Maj. William R. Sheppard, commander of a squadron which had the duty of supplying the radar defense tower.

8-Man Panel

He was among Wednesday's witnesses at the court martial of Air Force Col. William M. Banks, 46, who was in over-all charge of the tower 80 miles off the New Jersey coast.

The court martial continues today.

Banks is on trial on a charge of neglect of duty before a panel of eight senior officers at nearby Stewart Air Force Base.

Sheppard told the court martial that the day before the tower collapsed he tried to reach Banks at Stewart by telephone to warn him of the severe weather conditions, but could not reach him.

The witness said that one of the superiors who considered him too

EUGENE J. McNEELY

Stone Ridge Man New President of American T&T Co.

The owner of an 80-acre Stone Ridge area farm whose residence is in New York City, Eugene J. McNeely, has been elected president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

McNeely, formerly executive vice president, was elected by the board of directors, to succeed Frederick R. Kappel, who was named chairman of the board and who will continue as the company's chief executive officer.

McNeely, the 10th president of A. T. & T., joined the Bell System at St. Louis in 1922 following his graduation from the University of Missouri as an electrical engineer.

After serving in engineering and supervisory posts with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, he came to the American Telephone and Telegraph

Docking, Loading Permit Is Sought

Nytralite Aggregate, Inc., a subsidiary of the New York Trap Rock Corp., has applied for a permit to build a loading rack and install dolphins in the Rondout Creek at Eddyville, Col. C. M. Duke, district engineer in New York of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, reported today.

The loading and dock facility is to be built along Abeel Street extension not far south of the city line. It will include a loading rack, conveyor, retractable loading chute, and a large platform.

Dredging in Program

The corporation, it was revealed Wednesday, if it gains federal permit, also plans to dredge the creek channel. A group of local officials discussed that proposal with Col. Duke in New York Tuesday, and action to gain hearing on that proposal is expected to proceed soon through the office of Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, Representative in the 29th District.

Plans for the loading platform indicate that it will be approximately 216 feet long. It is also planned to install seven dolphins "to be located to either side of the proposed loading rack. The unit will extend about 27 feet "offshore of the mean high water line."

Contingent on Navigation

"Decision as to whether a permit will be issued," said Col. Duke, "must rest primarily upon the effect of the proposed work, on navigation. Any criticisms or protests regarding the proposed work, from the standpoint of navigation," should be submitted to the office of Col. Duke, 111 East 16th Street, New York 3, N. Y., "prior to Sept. 6." Otherwise, he said, it will be presumed that there are no objections.

The corporation earlier this year announced plans for acquiring large acreage of shale and stone deposits in an area between Eddyville and Route 32 (the Rosendale Road). Some preliminary work has been done in both the quarry and dock areas.

Dag Holds Right Of UN Voice in Berlin Situation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold declared today the United Nations is an interested party in the Berlin problem and has a right to make its voice heard if the situation becomes a threat to peace.

Hammarskjold said, however, that at the present time the world organization, with its large membership, cannot aspire to be a focal point in efforts to solve the problem. He indicated that the first step in solving problems such as this must be big power negotiations.

Annual U.N. Report

The secretary-general advanced these views in the introduction to his annual report to the U.N. General Assembly. He touched briefly on the Berlin question during a discussion of how to balance the weight of the big powers, and their security interests, against the rights of the world community.

He cited disarmament and the Berlin issue as the type of questions in which the major countries have such special interests that agreement among them is essential to a solution.

"Direct negotiations between those countries," he said, "are an essential first step to the solution, through the United Nations, of the disarmament problem, and do not in any way derogate from the re-

Soviets Say West Abuses Air Lanes

BERLIN (AP)—American officers handed out tear gas grenades to a U.S. detachment guarding the West Berlin border today after Communist forces loosed a stream of water against photographers.

A witness said two American soldiers were hit by spray and the water was quickly turned off when one reached for a grenade. Western troops have orders to disregard the Red warning for everyone to stay 100 yards back of the border.

No Further Incident

The incident at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, which ended without further Red action, came as a Soviet note was released charging that the Western Allies are abusing use of their air corridors to Berlin.

The Soviet government handed complaints to U.S., British and French embassies in Moscow Wednesday night. The Western powers were accused of ferrying military agents and spies of West Germany to West Berlin via the three corridors set aside in post-war agreements for air traffic from the West over Communist East Germany.

Diplomats speculated that this complaint may herald some Soviet tampering with the corridors. The Berlin air control system is the only four-power agency in which the Soviets still cooperate with Western authorities.

Shows West Resolve

The brush at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint illustrated the resolve of the Western Allies to make a military show at every point where Communists tamper with the border. The checkpoint is the only one through which the Communists are now allowing foreigners to enter East Berlin.

A U.S. tank stood guard there. A crowd of about 300 curious West Berliners milled about.

The Communist water-armed armored car moved up after Western cameramen closed in to photograph the East Berlin scene and ignored a Red policeman's signal to move back. The water gun did a bit of spraying—nothing too serious. But at that point the American troops were issued the grenades.

Foreigners Can't Leave

A new Communist restriction of travel from East Germany was disclosed. Foreigners living in East Berlin and East Germany have been barred from leaving the Red-ruled country since the Communist clampdown on refugees was launched Aug. 13.

Spokesmen for the Swedish and Norwegian consulates in West Berlin said the Communist authorities had informed the consulates it was not possible for their nationals to travel to the West in the present circumstances. The Communists indicated the restriction was temporary but did not say how long it would last.

Exit visas have been refused to foreign residents since Aug. 13, when the Communists slammed shut the West Berlin escape route

Rip's Retreat Bought by State For $25,100 in N. Lake Sector

A 10-acre property including Rip's Retreat, a former well-known Greene County tourist attraction, adjacent to the state's North Lake Campsite has been acquired by the State Conservation Department for $25,100, The Freeman learned from authoritative sources today.

The state has been in negotiation with The Nature Conservancy League of Washington, D. C. since June of this year, when the league purchased the parcel at public auction for $25,000. An agreement was consummated this week, it was reported.

At the time of the sale to the national non-profit organization, Charles W. Mattison, land acquisition consultant of the conservation department said if an agreement could be reached, the 10 acres would be added to the department's North Lake Campsite near Haines Falls, in the Towns of Catskill and Hunter.

The conservation department was prevented by certain legal restrictions from bidding directly on the property, but announced at that time its interest in adding the tract to the campsite property.

Mattison said today that no decision has been made by the department as to the disposition of the eight concrete-block colonial Dutch buildings on the Rip's Retreat property. He said, however, that a lot of consideration will be given to the matter before a final decision is made.

The purchase will be financed from the $75 million bond issue in Governor Rockefeller's park and recreational facilities program.

The proposed addition to the North Lake property is situated to the north and east of the campsite and the buildings are near the bathing beach and picnic area.

Rip's Retreat, less than a decade ago was drawing the attention of several hundred visitors a day to watch gnomes blow glass, and to observe Rip Van Winkle and his faithful dog, Wolf, wander about the simulated Dutch village.

A foreclosure and sale judgment against the land of Rip Van Winkle Inc., and others was obtained by the federal government in the U.S. District Court, Southern District on April 11. Other creditors were also named in the action, since their claims have been subordinated to that of the government. The Small Business Administration, a federal agency, held a $19,000 mortgage on the premises. Rip's Retreat had been in operation since May of 1954 by a corporation including J. Harold Hargreaves of Saugerties.

The original backers of the tourist attraction with Hargreave were Holly R. Cantine of Saugerties and Israel Slutsky of Hunter. It was reported at that time the project would cost nearly $200,000.

White House Is Favorite Name Hearings Reveal

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everyone, it seems, would like the White House to be called the White House.

And so, the House Interior Committee decided Wednesday, that should continue to be its name.

Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., had introduced a bill to give the President's home the designation of a national monument. He held hearings on the bill as chairman of an Interior subcommittee.

Calling the White House a national monument, Rutherford reported, became a subject of levity. Nobody, he said, wanted the White House to be known either as a museum or national monument.

So, the full committee voted that in its legal description the White House "shall continue to be known as the White House."

The committee diligently deleted words referring to the executive mansion as a national monument. However, Rutherford said, the bill, as approved, gives the White House the status of a monument under protection of the National Monument Act.

Thus, White House furniture, fixtures and decorative objects would be protected by putting them under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service. The agency will be required to store at the Smithsonian Institute such objects as a First Lady may prefer not to use while occupying the mansion.

This provision had the backing of the present First Lady, Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Rutherford said this would stop such things as finding a Madison table in use as a sawhorse in the White House workroom or barrels of Lincoln china broken in the basement.

Why We Say--

This expression should be "as neat as a new pin." Before pins were tin coated or made of brass, they were made of iron and rusted quickly. Thus a new pin was a clean or neat one.

15 Delegates Are Going to Young RepublicanParley

Fifteen delegates from the Ulster County Young Republican Club will leave Friday for Jamestown to attend the summer meeting of the Association of New York State Young Republican Clubs, Inc.

The agenda for the meeting will include an address at the Saturday breakfast session by Senator Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester and a report by Stuart Leonard, chairman of the TARS (Teenage Republicans).

State Senator John Cooke of Erie County will speak at the board of governors meeting on Saturday afternoon, after which a panel discussion is scheduled on "Elections Are Won on Court House Steps." Congressman Charles Goodell will address an evening session.

Sunday's schedule includes a school of politics, a club president's forum, and a continuation of the board of governors meeting with committee reports, judicial district reports and reports and various resolutions.

The local delegation will be led by John Ray Mayone, president of the Ulster County Young Republican Club, who said he is proud to be able to go to the summer meeting with such a representative number.

New Element in Simmering East-West Crisis

Big 3 See Note Threat to Routes

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union, in notes to the Western powers, questioned their right to use the air corridors to Berlin as they like, qualified diplomats said today.

The first reaction of the United States, Britain and France was that the new Soviet note was an extremely serious threat to their air access routes to the divided former German capital, 110 miles inside East Germany.

The brief Soviet note delivered to the Western embassies in Moscow Wednesday night, complained that the Western powers are using the air corridors illegally for the purpose of flying spies and troublemakers into West Berlin, diplomatic informants said.

The aim, the Soviet Union was reported to assert, was to create difficulties for the Communist East German regime.

Then in veiled fashion, sources said, the Soviet note questioned the right of the Allies to use the air corridors in that way.

The purpose of the Soviet move seemed to be to try to scare the Western powers by claiming that the Russians have the power to block the air corridors.

An authorized British source said this country would regard as an extremely serious matter any Soviet threat to close or interfere with the air corridors linking West Germany with West Berlin.

Informants added that the Russians never before have challenged the Western powers over their rights to carry whom they like by air into and out of West Berlin.

The source said the latest Soviet note injects an entirely new and serious element into the East-West crisis.

Urgent inter-Allied consultations on all the implications were being arranged today.

The Foreign Office declined immediate comment on the Soviet note pending its publication by Moscow.

But it was clear that British officials were worried. The contents were at once telephoned to Foreign Secretary Lord Home who is vacationing in Scotland.

MAYBE THEY'LL WALK

Soviet Premier Khrushchev likes to boast that Russian economy will overhaul ours in the next 10 to 15 years. But now and then he and others let slip that the big "catch-up" may not really be across the board.

He concedes, for instance, that it is not the Soviet aim to compete with us in producing automobiles. He doesn't say he can't, just that he won't. Still, we have to suspect that he can't.

The advance rationalization Mr. K. offers for this is that we in America have too many cars, and don't use them sensibly. Russia, he says, will avoid this mistake. There will be "common taxi parks," from which people may take cars as needed.

A certain aged Soviet theorist went beyond this and said that in the "communes of the future" there will be no need for buses, trams, subways, elevators—let alone passenger cars.

What is to be the mode of transport, private rocket?

THE CEASELESS BLINKER

The engineering genius of Detroit deserves much credit for devising the automobile cigarette lighter and the electrically operated auto window. It also merits praise for developing the self-squirting windshield wiper.

But why, as many a driver must have inquired, can't the engineering genius of Detroit come up with a directional signal that won't keep on blinking miles after a turn has been made? The fellow who devises such a thing will earn the gratitude of all who have ever followed one of these straightway blinkers, wondering when the blinkety-blank ahead is going to turn. His efforts may also prevent some accidents.

One need not be a bona fide inventor to visualize, for example, a blinker whose clicking would become progressively louder until the driver would be reminded that it was still on. Timing devices come to mind, also; why not something to halt the blinker after, say, 30 seconds? The answer may lie elsewhere. But answer there surely must be.

BACK DOOR SPENDING

The federal budgets are coming perilously close to the $100 billion-a-year mark. One reason is what is known as "backdoor spending." This is a procedure by which a federal agency may obtain funds for a project or program without previous or later annual scruntiny by the appropriations committee of Congress.

A current example is found in the housing bills, which carry price tabs of close to six billion. As the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey points out, this is a type of spending "over which Congress has little or no say—except to pay the bills as they come due." And that amounts to an abandonment of one of the most important duties laid upon Congress by the Constitution.

If there ever was a time when every item of expenditure demanded the closest examination and control, this is it.

NOT IN THE BLUEPRINTS

One wonders if, in their wisdom, the Communist leaders who devised Russia's road map to Utopia have sufficiently taken into account one serious shortcoming of planned economies. This is, that any plan—even one looking 20 years ahead — must necessarily be based upon the state of society as it exists at the moment.

In 1919, when the first great Communist platform was announced, who could have predicted the electronics industry? What nation "planned" the advent of atomic energy and a host of other things which have revolutionized our lives?

Government can only aid, or hinder, the creative progress of a people. It cannot plan it.

UNCORRECTABLE ERRORS

Politicians play their little games but some of them become costly irretrievable errors. Also some are not understandable. For instance the establishment of the American Zone of West Berlin inside of East Germany — 110 miles inside of East Germany without a corridor is beyond understanding.

If there was to be a divided Berlin, each sector should have had a corridor. By agreement, Berlin was divided into American, British, French and Russian sectors. The Western countries united and the people of West Berlin elected a government of their own, headed by Mayor Willy Brandt.

Soviet Russia declined to join in this rationalization of Berlin, establishing East Germany as a separate area, controlled by Soviet Russia. This was a violation of all agreements, but Soviet Russia has maintained that there are two Germanys and that there will remain two Germanys and that Berlin is actually within the Soviet Zone, in East Germany. Therefore the Western powers, who may be there legally, are there irrationally. Khrushchev makes this point now. He holds that after 16 years, a settlement must be reached that makes sense from the Russian standpoint. President Kennedy has challenged the Russian point of view in the most practical manner possible, by sending troops into Berlin and by sending Vice-President Johnson there. It was a direct challenge to Russia and Khrushchev let it pass.

The initial error was undoubtedly made by President Truman, Prime Ministers Churchill and Attlee, by the American and British chiefs-of-staff who accepted the Russian formula which was unsound when adopted and is unsound now. Even a movie house has a fire exit.

This kind of historical error was not only made as regards Berlin but also as regards China. I have been reading Robert Morris' remarkable book, "No Wonder We Are Losing," in which he gives the details of his services as a counsel for Congressional Committees. In this book, he establishes beyond question the activities of Russian agents and spies within the State Department and the White House. He describes carefully what we now call, to avoid libel, "Russian-oriented" persons who played an enormous role in the development of American policy toward Red China. Morris describes what he knows from first hand experience.

The mistakes made in our relations with China cannot be corrected and they are proving to be very costly to us. But the personalities who made the mistakes, who associated with Russian-oriented personalities, who influenced Presidents and Secretaries of State are, many of them, still around, working in the State Department and elsewhere in the government. They made mistakes and to err is human; therefore it is held that the entire country not the individuals should suffer.

A final example of error and carelessness is to be found in Cuba, in the support and opposition to Batista; in the support and opposition to Castro; in the boycott of Cuban goods but the shipment of American goods to Cuba from both Tampa and Canada. And, of course, the greatest blunder was the amateurish commando-type invasion of Cuba which ended in a fiasco.

Who has been tried for the fiasco? Who has been held responsible for the confused Cuban policy? Actually nobody has been. The doctrine remains that to err is human and that all a human being need say is that he regrets his error, whereupon he is permitted to err some more.

In fact, the only ones who suffered for the errors were our ambassadors to Cuba and Brazil who were made to pay for having had sound judgement concerning Castro. Sound judgement is not popular with those who thrive on human errors.

This country will have to wake up and take a sterner attitude toward experts who make mistakes. There are some who still do not believe that Harry Dexter White was a malicious official, a Russian agent, despite all the evidence to that effect gathered by the FBI. There are still some who believe that Alger Hiss is innocent. What is their proof? It is not enough to establish a man's innocence that Joe McCarthy held that he was guilty? If it is possible to prove guilt by association, why not establish innocence by looking at the accuser?

No nation can afford the luxury of that sort of logic — surely not in a battle with Soviet Russia.

Little Is Known About Tuberculin-Type Allergies

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The practical importance of recognizing a tuberculin-type allergy and of identifying the causative allergen, rests of course in the preparation of a program for prevention and treatment.

If we clear the throat of streptococci, we prevent recurrences of rheumatic fever.

If we persuade our patients to stop smoking, we arrest the progress of thrombo-angiitis obliterans, a cruel disease that may require amputation of both legs. And if we filter out harmful rays of the sun, we may save the lives of those who are afflicted with the "butterfly disease."

Unhappily, the list of known allergens in the tuberculin-type allergies is altogether too short. While skillful use of products that possess the properties of the adreno-cortical principle of the pituitary master gland (ACTH) succeeds in relieving some of the manifestations of some of the tuberculin-type diseases, we effect no true cures. The most we can offer is incomplete and temporary benefit in affictions such as psoriasis, pemphigus, scleroderma, the scleroses of the nervous system and other diseases too numerous to mention.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO INVESTIGATE AND PREVENT ALLERGIC ACTIONS.

If your parents, your children or you have ever experienced any type of any of the allergic reactions previously mentioned, you are justified in suspecting a family hypersensitivity.

If there is evidence of a familial hypersensitivity, give this information to each member of the family and to every member of the medical profession before any type of treatment is prescribed or administered.

If you are hypersensitive, exert extreme precaution before exposing yourself to known allergens. Such allergens are poison ivy, goldenrod, timothy grass, insecticides, medicinals containing sulfa drugs or penicillin or any product that is new and strange.

If you feed your potentially hypersensitive baby a food for the first time, begin with an infinitesimal dose, such as a single drop of a mixture prepared by adding a single drop of the undiluted substance to a full glass of water.

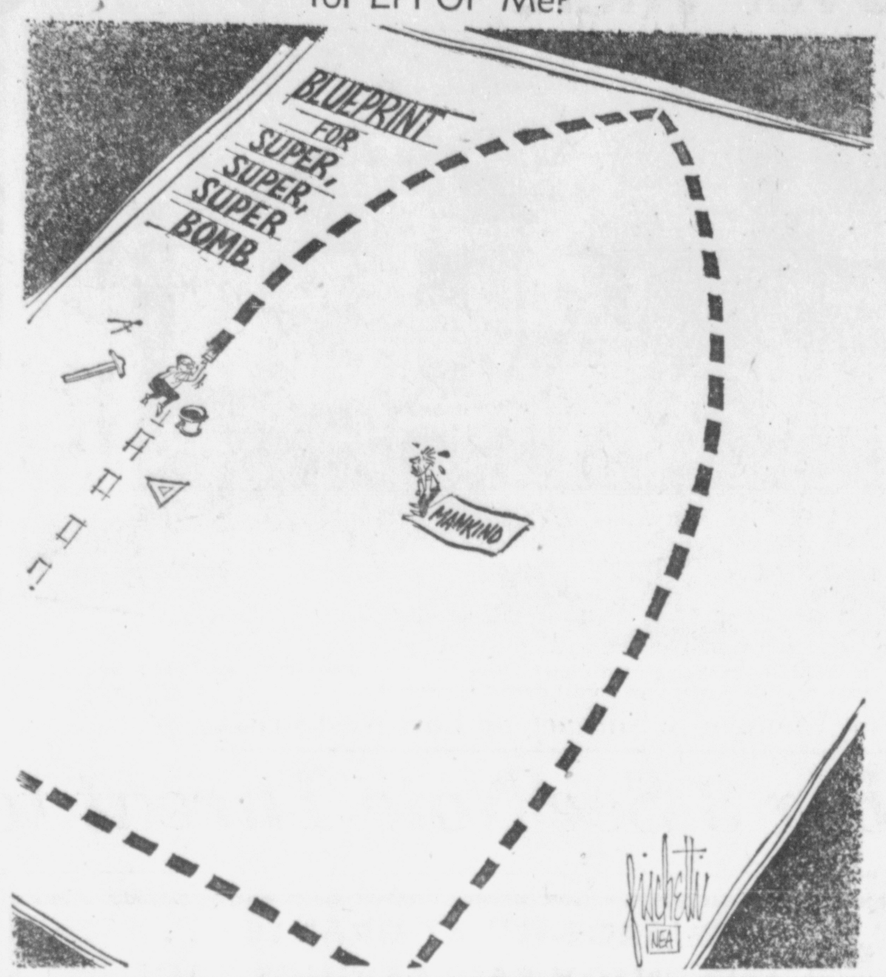

If you actually develop some recognized allergic reaction put on your Sherlock Holmes cap and look for clues, like sunlight or cold, sun tan or sunburn lotions or ointments. The new lipstick, eyeshade, hair dye, rinse, shampoo, nail polish, perfume, toilet water, hand soap, detergent, floor wax, rouge, deodorant, wave lotion, depilatory, anti-perspirant, roach or ant powder or synthetic fabric are all places to start your search.

Or maybe it's milk or eggs, or fish, or shell food or something that went into the cake mix?

Or just "nerves"?

Now you don't have to wear a white coat, hang out a shingle, endow a laboratory or hire a private eye for this kind of investigation. Just make observations, write them down, then, if you get a hot clue, keep away from the suspected allergen for a few days and see what happens.

If you improve, expose yourself and see if your troubles get worse or return. Repeat the observations of elimination and exposure at least twice, then draw your own conclusions just as if you were the greatest allergy professor in the world.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The next few weeks will tell whether the northwest United States gets by without a major drought, according to Department of Agriculture reports compiled here. Normal September rains will enable most areas to get through the winter without a major disaster, according to the Weather Bureau and the Water Resources Review of Geological Survey.

A NUMBER OF SCARE STORIES have come out of the area reaching roughly from western Minnesota to the Rockies. Reports that half the Canadian grain crop has been lost because of drought have not helped. The disaster really centered there and edged over into the United States.

National Association of Soil Conservation Districts has put out a couple of letters to its members which have not helped. N.A.S.C.D. is recognized as a lobby working for greater federal aid for development of water resources, however, and its reports are judged accordingly.

"Drought has become a withering reality to thousands of farmers in the Northern Great Plains," begins one of its letters. "There's talk, in the third year of drought there, that things are worse even than in the 1930's. Forced sales of cattle have been going on for months. Crops are a failure in many areas. Water and feed are playing out. Many farmers and ranchers are at the end of their credit. Business in these areas is affected."

Another N.A.S.C.D. letter sums up with, "Montana, North and South Dakota and parts of Minnesota are experiencing one of the most severe droughts since 1935 and 1936."

IT IS ADMITTED there are elements of truth in this, in spots. One reason it can be said this is the most severe drought since the great Dust Bowl and Okie migration days of the depression ridden 1930s is that the United States has had an unusually good run of weather in the last 25 years. There was a small drought in 1943 and another in 1952, but nothing serious.

This year there is only average rainfall and streamflow in all but a few eastern areas as of mid-August. Unless you have reports from an entire state and from all the affected states, the full picture is not revealed.

Department of Agriculture's Aug. 1 crop summary shows corn 14 per cent less than 1960 but 11 per cent above average, wheat 1 per cent less than 1960 but 10 per cent above average, oats 23 per cent below average, hay 1 per cent below average, sorghum grain 52 per cent above average and an all-time record crop of soybeans 2 per cent above 1960.

Department of Agriculture reports conditions in hardest hit North Dakota are not too bad in the eastern third of the state. They're worst in the western third and spotty in the center.

Allowing farmers to cut hay on soil bank reserve land and truck it west has supplied emergency feed for stock.

NO FORAGE DEFICIENCY is reported otherwise except where pastures depend on irrigation. Small grains in parts of the Dakotas headed out on 10-inch straw, too short to combine. Row crops, soybeans and corn are not too bad. Yields are below last year, but still above average for the states as a whole.

Montana, eastern Idaho and Oregon reported good rainfall in July but above average temperatures since then, which stopped growth. Nebraska reports spotty dry weather. But corn, oats and barley yields are estimated at only one or two bushels to the acre below last year. In Iowa and the rest of the corn belt, however, bumper yields are reported.

One thing that helps alleviate drought conditions now more than 25 years ago is that there are better conservation practices, more and faster government aid which was practically nonexistant in 1934-36.

Overseas Public Relations Held Biggest U. S. Problem

By DAVID LAWRENCE

EN ROUTE FROM EUROPE, Aug. 23—The most important problem that faces the United States government today is how to communicate with other people around the world.

There is no lack of radio or mail or press facilities. It is not a matter of funds, nor altogether a problem of getting the right personnel for such an institution as the United States Information Agency. It is a matter of constructive and well-thought-out policy and concentration in a courageous way on simple objectives in the great crusade to win the hearts and minds of people in other lands.

The overseas broadcasts today from America are defensive and often seem to be in the pussyfoot category, instead of the militant kind. This isn't the fault of the "Voice of America" but of some misguided policy directives of past years.

Consequently, the "Voice of America" is inadequate and not as effective as it could be. It is doing some things well and others poorly. It, of course, needs more funds from Congress to improve its work—the Russians spend millions where we spend pennies. But, above all else, it needs a recognition by the President and Congress that the task cannot be left to subordinates to fulfill on the basis of directives fitfully supplied in a sort of hap-hazard way through a fluctuating diplomacy.

Cabinet-Stature Aid

What the United States government needs is a man of cabinet stature to sit alongside the President and spend his whole time on what might be called "the public relations of the United States."

What's needed is someone who has had actual contact through diplomacy or otherwise with the peoples of Latin-American countries, Asian countries, Middle Eastern countries and European countries—someone with common sense who understands the psychology of foreign peoples. He can have beside him plenty of specialists in communications and in the customs of the foreign press, but he needs above all to be able to advise the President and his cabinet as to how what is currently happening abroad is affected by American action and how suggested American policies would be received in other countries.

Nor is communication a problem altogether of mechanical facilities. As much, if not more, can be accomplished by indirect contact with foreign countries through word-of-mouth—by conversations with key persons in other lands. This means more contacts by our own diplomats with important persons not only in the press but in other walks of life in each country. It means an organized and not a casual effort. In a total sense, it means reaching through to the heart of the people whose friendship America seeks.

'Voice' Improvement

Improvement of the "Voice of America" broadcasts is imperative. One wonders why so little time is given on these programs to news and serious subjects in the news, and why so much time is consumed on rock-and-roll music or highbrow lectures, some of which seem to apologize for America's free-enterprise system.

This writer has been listening by shortwave radio nearly every night for years, both at home and abroad, to the broadcasts of the various Communist-bloc stations as well as to the "Voice of America" and the overseas service of the British Broadcasting Company. Music undoubtedly has a certain appeal in attracing listeners. But it is difficult to understand the object of a radio interview with a movie star on what constitutes "sophistication." Surely, the "Voice of America" could use its precious time more wisely and more effectively.

The Communists, of course, repeat and persist with their points day after day, and they broadcast in simple English that can be readily grasped. Much of the broadcasting on both sides is, to be sure, done in foreign languages, and here the matter of simplicity is especially important.

These criticisms are not new. They have been made by this writer for the last decade to public officials, particularly on the wording of the broadcasts, which still are often hard for the average listener abroad to catch. Simple expressions are better for the radio than the phraseology and big words of over-condensed press-association dispatches.

As for editorial commentaries that are supposed to reflect American public opinion, the selection by the "Voice of America" is not representative of the American press at all. Rarely are any newspapers in the mid-West quoted, and rarely are some of the best pronouncements in Congress spread around the world.

There is sometimes, moreover, a tendency to give a "left wing" twist to many items, and there is at times an indifference to the conservative point of view in America. There is a constant apology, too, for various defects in the American system, without an effort to explain that even racial problems must be handled by constitutional law and not by mobs. It is tragic that American ideals are so little expounded, while American shortcomings are so much emphasized. The whole problem of communication in foreign policy needs a new look.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

C. A. Winchell's article on "Old Timer's Civil War Notes" are very interesting, informative and are being saved by many readers. One article on Major George Francis Von Beck of Rondout in The Kingston Freeman on Wednesday, July 19, interested many folks downtown.

Major Von Beck's history can fill a book and did. He built the Mansion House then corner Broadway and Canal Street, and also Masonic Temple building now Yallum's building corner Broadway and Strand.

Winchell tells about the Major also building the Old Homestead on Abeel Street. I am just wondering if it is 24 Abeel Street.

Major Von Beck was one of the engineers of the D and H Canal because of his experience in Germany in that line. It is said, at that time the Strand did not exist and the Rondout Creek came right up to the rocks. Fill was used until it formed solid ground and on that the business section of Rondout was built.

During Von Beck's ownership of the Mansion House it was known as the center of the most important functions. He built useful and decorative balconies on which stood important people and elegantly dressed women to witness various official functions like the troops leaving for the Civil War, the departure of Co. M to the Spanish War and their return from Honolulu the following year.

Major Von Beck was linked closely to important families of Rondout by marriage. His money started various business enterprises of good standing. Irving Von Beck, a grandson ran the Mansion House some time later, but little is said of him.

A century ago, in the Rondout Courier of December 27, 1861 at which time Major George F. Von Beck was proprietor, the Mansion House was redecorated according to an advertisement and then known as one of the most fashionable hotels along the Hudson River.

Horse-car stages going up to Kingston stopped hourly at the Mansion House so that connections could be made easily.

Major Von Beck was born Jan. 13, 1798 in Alsace, of French parentage, and on coming here to Rondout, built the finest buildings, and even changed the contour of the Rondout Creek with his ideas. He saw possibilities in Rondout after doing work along the D and H Canal. Von Beck's father, an officer under Bonaparte, perished in the famous retreat from Moscow.

With school days so near, I see back in February of 1915, Charles K. Moulton, new principal of our New Kingston High School was complaining about the front steps. I think it was only a year or two ago, and they were still working on them.

I understand they were supposed to use our own Hudson River bluestone in the specification but the quarries would have to be especially opened for that earlier in the season. Anyway they were allowed to use Norwich bluestone instead to hurry the completion of the steps.

I often wonder what happens to old school blackboards and if they use them in the new schools.

Kenneth Bonville, custodian of the new Port Ewen School showed me around and I see they still use the good old-fashioned blackboards here and there. Kingston High School has some of the old slate blackboards of the Kingston Academy. I understand.

Principal Robert Graves Jr., of Port Ewen School had invited me to look around the new school. It is a magnificent structure and is being enlarged now. I could easily get lost there, it is far different from School No. 13 in Port Ewen, I remember.

Love, Guide Your Child Says Booklet Out of Washington

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A parent is a father or a mother.

Are you a parent?

If you are, the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare has a primer for you.

A primer is a small book for a beginner.

This primer is called Pogo Primer for Parents (TV Division).

It was written by Walt Kelly, who draws a cartoon called Pogo. Pogo is an opposum. He is very smart.

Pogo tells you in the primer what to do and what not to do about letting your child watch TV.

He uses pictures to teach you what to do and what not to do. He says the parent should guide the child. He says the most important thing to do is to love your child. He says it twice, Love your child.

Pogo's book is 24 pages long. On its yellow covers are pictures of Pogo and a friend, Albert the Alligator, who poses as "a parent."

Is Official Booklet

It is being published under auspicious and official sponsorship. Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff timed its formal announcement to a general news conference this morning.

Soon parents everywhere can read Pogo's questions and answers.

"What are little children afraid of?"

"They are afraid of boredom, also frustration. They want to know what to do."

"They are afraid of monsters. On TV they sometimes meet a lot of them."

"These monsters can become their constant companions."

"Monsters are not as good as parents to learn things from."

"Except in matters of destruction."

At this point is a picture of a couple of monsters blowing up the world.

"What does the child want then?"

Wants Guidance

"He wants to be loved. . . . He wants guidance. He wants the parents to share things with him. Maybe even TV, radio, comic books, broccoli."

In summing up, the primer says: "Do not be afraid of your child. He is not here to stay. He is a precious visitor. Do not wind up your child and set him to watch the TV unguided. Love your child.

"It is not necessary to censor. It is necessary to guide. Other child activities siphon off energy, but this energy can be used badly after bad TV exposure. Above all, love the child."

You can order Pogo's primer from the Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C. It costs 20 cents.

PSC Authorizes Halt of Bus Trip Below Ellenville

ALBANY—The Public Service Commission today authorized Eagle Bus Line, Inc., of Ellenville, to discontinuet omnibus service between Ellenville and Port Jervis on or after September 5. The proposal was unopposed at a public hearing this month.

Until last February, the company's route extended only between Kingston and Ellenville. At that time, however, it obtained PSC operating rights between Ellenville and Port Jervis in the expectation that patronage on the new extension would meet operating expenses.

Only 4.5 Riders

In testimony at the hearing, the company president said, however, that during May and June, the average number of riders on the extension was only 4.5 per day and that revenues from them totaled only $110 compared with out-of-pocket operating costs said to approximate $1,280.

In a report to the commission, Examiner Morris A. Goldfarb states that it was testified also that "unless the drag of the deficit resulting from the operation between Ellenville and Port Jervis was removed" the firm's "entire service would be jeopardized."

On the basis of evidence submitted, he concludes that public convenience and necessity does not require omnibus service between Ellenville and Port Jervis and recommends that the company's request for permission to discontinue service on that 30-mile extension of its route be granted. Service will be continued between Ellenville and Kingston.

In other actions the Associated Press reported that a minister who serves three congregations received final approval from the state for another endeavor—operation of a bus line.

Given Permission

The permission given the Rev. Alfred L. Brown, who operates a bus route between Bath and Hammondsport, in Steuben County, was among several actions the Public Service Commission took involving bus companies.

With assistance from his wife, The Rev. Mr. Brown plans to run 16 round trips daily between the two communities.

The Rev. Mr. Brown formerly was a school-bus driver. Last March, he established the B&H Hospital Bus Line and received temporary authority from the PSC to conduct operations.

The Rev. Mr. Brown lives in Bath and is minister at Methodist congregations in nearby Cowlesville, Coffs Corners and Sonora.

Supplements Income

He owns an eight-passenger bus, bought new in January for $2,000, and uses the bus route to supplement his income.

His wife says he starts his runs at 6:30 a.m. and winds up about 9 p.m. The route is a 14-mile round trip.

"The line pays pretty well some days and other days it doesn't. We're paying our bills anyway," Mrs. Brown said. The Browns have two children, aged 16 and 9.

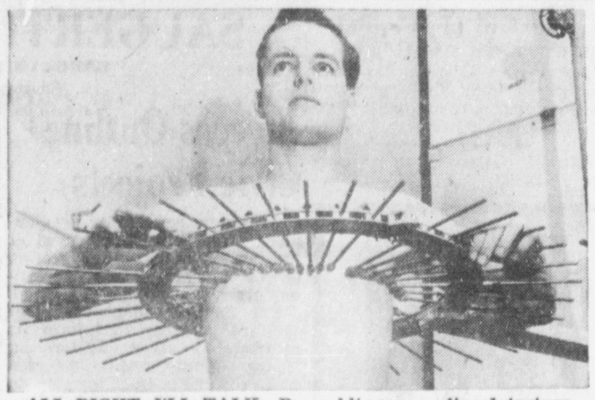

The commission, in other actions:

Authorized Niagara Frontier Transit Corp. to sell 4,000 shares of common stock to its workers at a minimum $10 a share.

The stock was quoted Wednesday at $15.50 bid. Workers may purchase from 10 to 20 shares in a program that company said would benefit both the firm and the travelling public.

Carnival Off

Woodstock Post American League has postponed the annual carnival scheduled Friday and Saturday evenings to Sept. 1-2, because of threatening weather for the weekend, it was announced this morning.

Teamster Favors Union Help for U. S. Poultrymen

ATLANTA (AP) — A Teamsters Union official says organization and collective bargaining are needed to alleviate poultry industry problems.

"The only way the poultry industry can be heard is through collective bargaining," Harold Gibbons, executive vice president of the Teamsters Union, told a group of Southeastern state chicken processors Wednesday night.

Gibbons said his union's contribution to such industry as poultry would not be through knowledge of that industry but in the technical skills with which it could aid poultrymen.

"Obviously there are problems when you're getting only 10 cents a pound in a broiler industry," he said.

The Teamsters, he added, "could go up to $1 million to promote the qualities of poultry which the average American doesn't know about. I'm not advocating lack of inspection or diseased chickens but we could have better publicity."

Trooper Shoots Bear Calling for Popcorn

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y. (AP)—State Trooper Roger Perry shot and killed a black bear that showed up at a nearby drive-in theater after the feature.

"Mr. an dMrs. Bruin like popcorn that abounds on the ground after every show," Perry said.

Jaycees Outline Civic Projects

Four new community development projects were approved at the general membership meeting of the Saugerties Jaycees Monday night at the Stonewall Hotel.

The Jaycees adopted Project Welfare in order to inform its membership about welfare in Ulster County. Also endorsed was Project Fix-Up, Clean-Up, to get the public interested in improving the appearance of Saugerties.

In the interest of youth, the Jaycees this year will sponsor a local Explorer Scout Troop for young men between the ages of 14 and 17, and voted to continue the Easter Egg Hunt for the small children of the community in 1962.

At Monday's meeting Karl Gerhard received the Jaycee Man-of-the-Month Award for his participation on the water supply study committee. Charles Fort was installed as a new member.

Guests attending included Albert Conti of the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce, and Harry Thayer, general manager of radio station WGHQ.

All local young men between the ages of 21 and 35 who are interested in community development may attend the Jaycee meetings at the Stonewall Hotel the third Monday of every month.

Miss Saugerties Nomination Are Being Received

Plans for the annual Miss Saugerties Pageant to be held at the High School Auditorium Sept. 15, 16, are progressing, with several nominations already received by Frank Moran, entries committee chairman.

Deadline for entering the pageant has been set for Sept. 5, and any young lady between the ages of 17 and 27 who has never been married and is a resident of Saugerties or in attendance at a school there may be entered. Application blanks may be obtained from most stores in town.

The contest is a preliminary to the Miss New York State contest, and may lead to the competition in the Miss America contest. Albert V. Conte, pageant director, said that this is an excellent opportunity for Saugerties girls to display their varied talents, and points out that talent for Miss America contest purposes, may include popular and classical singers, dancers, musicians, artists, designers and dramatists as well as authors, school teachers, nurses and others.

Candidates wishing to enter may write to Frank Moran, Route 2, Box 518A, Saugerties. The Saugerties Chamber of Commerce sponsors the pageant.

Receives Diploma At Area Hospital

JOYCE FINCH

Miss Joyce Evelyn Finch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Finch of Route 1, Box 237, Blue Mountain, Saugerties, is among the 26 members of the Class of 1961 of the Vassar Brothers Hospital School of Nursing who will receive diplomas at commencement exercises Friday, Sept. 1, at 8:15 p. m. in the auditorium of the Joseph T. Tower Memorial Building at the hospital.

Miss Finch is a graduate of the Saugerties High School, class of 1958, where she received a nurses scholarship award from the Public Health Nursing Committee. She was chosen by the faculty members as the student showing the most promise of becoming a nurse.

During her three years at Vassar Brothers, she has served as pianist for the Glee Club, treasurer of her class and president and vice president of the Christian Nurses Fellowship.

VFW Annual Barbecue Scheduled on Sept. 3

The ninth annual barbecue of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held Sunday, Sept. 3, starting at 2 p. m. at Cantine Field, rain or shine.

Proceeds of the event will be used for the building fund. The post is having an addition built to their hall, Livingston Street, which consists of new kitchen facilities, and recreation room and is anticipating the completion by the end of September.

Head chefs for the barbecue will be Bill Brown and Ignazio Bosco, with the assistance of the Ladies' Auxiliary. The menu includes Georgian style chicken and beef, clams and many other delicacies.

Tickets may be obtained from any Post member.

Events Scheduled

VFW Blood Bank drawing tonight starting at 7 o'clock at VFW Hall, Livingston Street.

Annual American Legion Auxiliary card party at Legion Hall, John Street, 8:30 p. m. Proceeds for local welfare fund. Refreshments are included.

Demos to Split Education Bill; Vote Uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House may get a chance to vote on the administration's stripped down federal school aid package after all. Then again it may not.

The Democratic leadership decided Wednesday to split the package into two separate bills. The strategy is to try to bring up one or both of them two weeks from now under a parliamentary oddity called calendar Wednesday. This would bypass the House Rules Committee, where the administration's original school program came to grief in a squabble over federal aid to parochial schools.

Speaker Sam Rayburn conferred with President Kennedy Wednesday, then called a meeting of Democrats most closely concerned with the aid to education program. Education Committee Chairman Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., said after the meeting two separate bills would be hammered out overnight, but all elements of the administration compromise plan would be retained.

Powell said two of the elements, aid to "impacted areas" with many children of federal employes, and a public elementary school construction program, would be in one bill.

An aid to higher education proposal would be in another bill.

The fourth element, extension of the National Defense Education Act to strengthen teaching of science, languages and mathematics, will be tacked to one of the measures after another meeting today, Powell said.

The total cost of the compromise package is $2.2 billion compared with almost $8 billion for the administration's original proposals.

In Plea to House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg today urged the House to follow the Senate's lead and approve a bill for retraining of jobless workers.

The administration was highly gratified by Wednesday's 60-31 Senate vote, Goldberg said.

The measure would provide $655 million in federal funds over the next four years to train jobless workers and teach other workers new skills.

Saugerties Man Escapes Serious Injury in Mishap

A 59-year-old Saugerties man narrowly escaped serious injury Monday when he was struck by a car on the apron entrance to Saugerties Firehouse on Partition Street, according to a village police report.

Edison P. Whitaker of 15 Jane Street suffered bruises on the right hand and right knee, the report indicated.

Whitaker was walking on the firehouse apron at the Municipal Building about 7:45 p. m. when a car operated by Phillip Breithaupt, 69, of 122 West Bridge Street drove up to the apron to deliver refreshments for the meeting of the Exempt Firemen's Association. According to the police report the right fender of the 1960 sedan struck Whitaker in the left hip, knocking him to the pavement. He was treated by Dr. Lester Sonking.

Breithaupt told police officer John Hopf that the windows in his car were steamed and he did not see Whitaker until he fell on the pavement, the police report indicated.

Test Broadcasting From New Transmitter

Test broadcasting from the new 5000 watt transmitter at Port Ewen will begin this week under the supervision of engineers from Washington it was announced today by Harry M. Thayer, general manager of Radio Station WGHQ.

Before being fully approved by the Federal Communications Commission for operation at the 5,000 watt power, WGHQ will undergo a series of test broadcasts emanating from the present studios at Mount Marion.

During these tests WGHQ engineers will use a helicopter to make field checks of the signal strength and signal direction throughout the Hudson Valley.

The WGHQ studios at 82 John Street are nearing completion and the entire operation of the local radio station is expected to move there in the very near future.

Crash Mars Search

4 Bodies Found In Small Plane

POTTERSDALE, Pa. (AP) — The badly mangled bodies of four persons were found in the wreckage of a small plane Wednesday night, ending a three-day search marred by two helicopter crashes in which another man was killed.

Ground patrols of the Civil Air Patrol reported that the plane's wreckage was scattered over miles of underbrush in a heavily wooded mountainous section in this central western Pennsylvania area.

A CAP spokesman said there was no doubt that the four victims—two men, a woman and a girl—were the same four who took off from Williamsport Sunday night, bound for Akron, Ohio.

They were tentatively identified as Joseph Milliken, 44, the pilot; his 14-year-old daughter Patricia; and Milliken's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Milliken, all of Akron.

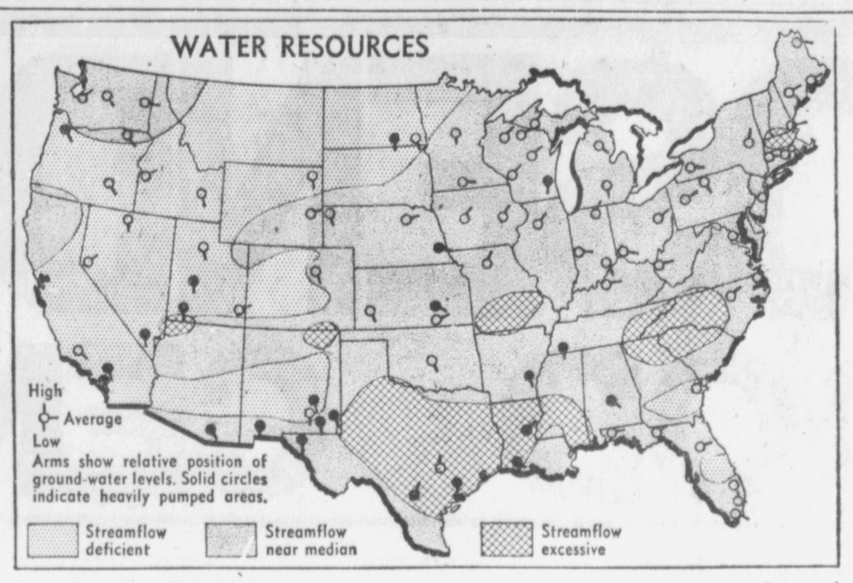

Just before the bodies were reached, two helicopters, which had taken part in the search for the missing Piper Comanche, crashed in separate accidents.

A huge Army helicopter, returning to the U.S. Army Signal Corps depot in Tobyhanna, went down in a heavy fog about two miles short of its destination.

A depot spokesman said the pilot, identified as Capt. Clifford F. Betts, 37, of Chicago, was killed. Two of his crewmen were injured.

The other helicopter crashed into a clump of trees and burned about 300 yards from where the plane wreckage was spotted. The crewmen escaped injury.

Other helicopters and ground patrols were sent out immediately. Search parties were delayed in reaching the wreckage by the darkness and rugged terrain of the area.

Jaycees Discuss Program for '62

The Kingston Jaycees held their regular membership meeting Wednesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Guest speaker was Charle Rice, national Jaycee director, who spoke on the opportunities offered to young men in the community to participate in the many projects offered by the Jaycee program.

He stressed the responsibility that each individual Jaycee member had in personally acquainting his friends, neighbors, and business associates with the work that the Junior Chamber of Commerce carries on and to develop his interest in taking part in this program.

The short business meeting was devoted to reports on active committees such as Operation Survival, publicity, junior golf, membership and Miss New York State. The coming year will see many of the past projects carried on as well as a few new ones. Carrying on will be projects such as Community Development, Teen Age Road-E-O, Outstanding Young Farmer, Winter Sports Carnival, Easter Egg Hunt and Christmas Shopping Tour. New projects initiated were an Outboard Regatta, Bike Safety and Las Vegas Night.

The meeting was concluded with a program of colored slides from Switzerland. Emil Buhler, Local Jaycee and a native of Switzerland, showed the slides with an interesting running commentary.

All young men, aged 21 to 35, interested in taking part in community activities are urged to contact either Robert Carlzon, local president, or William Fairley Jr., membership chairman.

Pedestrian Toll On Highways Is Reported Lower

"Month after month, accidents involving pedestrians account for more motor vehicle fatalities in New York State than any other single type of accident," says Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults.

The commissioner called for "a greater concentration of effort directed towards the needless loss of life encountered in pedestrian accidents."

A survey just completed by the Department of Motor Vehicles showed there were fewer pedestrian deaths during the first four months of 1961 than during the similar period for each of the preceding five years. The commissioner said he hopes a constant decrease over the last four years indicates a downward trend in the number of pedestrian fatalities. "But there are still too many," he added.

Motor Vehicles surveys show that "crossing between intersections" accounts for more deaths than any other pedestrian accident category.

Pedestrian deaths from motor vehicle accidents were six per cent fewer for April than the 53 recorded for April 1960.

Commissioner Hults noted that stricter police enforcement of local ordinances aimed at pedestrian safety was one method. He also urged traffic safety educational campaigns to awaken and re-establish public awareness of the pedestrian accident situation. These are "tried and proven methods of reducing this alarming toll," he said.

"Effective educational efforts along these lines, directed toward parents and senior citizen organizations could significantly reduce the number of pedestrian deaths in New York State," he added.

Contract Awarded

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Power Authority announced today the award of a contract for construction of an addition to the Niagara Junction Railroad Service Building in Niagara Falls.

The $45,444 contract was awarded to Sicoli and Massaro Inc. of Niagara Falls, lowest of six bidders.

The 30 by 75 foot addition to the building east of Hyde Park Boulevard replaces a similar structure which was in the path of the Niagara Power Project.

Ottaviano Low Bidder

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A bid of $8,377,748 was the lowest submitted today to the State Public Works Department for construction of a 4.8-mile section of the Niagara Expressway.

The A. E. Ottaviano Inc. of Groton- On -Hudson entered the bid.

The Niagara Expressway will extend from the Thruway at Buffalo to Niagara Falls.

Student Nurse, Truck Driver Die in Two Dutchess Mishaps

Two persons were killed in Dutchess County highway accidents Wednesday night. A 19-year-old student nurse from St. Francis' Hospital was fatally injured and two others seriously hurt when their car crashed into trees on South Avenue, Poughkeepsie. A 23-year-old man lost his life when a truck he was driving struck a boulder in the Town of Pleasant Valley.

The dead were:

Miss Judy Parker, daughter of Lester and Louella Parker, of Pine Tree Drive, Town of Poughkeepsie. Mr. Parker is an IBM employe.

William B. Mackey, of Timothy Heights, Pleasant Valley.

Injured were:

Miss Kathleen Smith, 18, daughter of Charles and Helen Smith, of 1 Central Avenue, Newburgh, who suffered severe lacerations of the scalp, fractured ribs and internal injuries; and Miss Dorothy Kowal, 18, daughter of Lawrence and Agnes Kowal, of 40 Mitchell Avenue, Poughkeepsie, who suffered multiple lacerations of the body and possible cerebral concussion.

Miss Smith and Miss Kowal are student nurses at St. Francis' Hospital.

Acting Police Chief Frank McManus, Poughkeepsie, told The Freeman the three student nurses left William's Cafe Exceptional, 235 South Avenue, that city, at about 11:45 p. m. and rode a short distance north on South Avenue in a car operated by Miss Parker.

Pavement Wet

McManus and the 1960 sedan skidded on wet pavement and crashed into two trees on the east side of the highway. The impact hurled Miss Parker from the car near the second tree.

The three student nurses were taken by ambulance to Vassar Hospital, where Miss Parker was pronounced dead. Miss Smith and Miss Kowal were later removed to St. Francis' Hospital.

Dr. Chester H. Golding, Wappingers Falls, Dutchess County medical examiner, said Miss Parker died of a fractured skull and lacerated brain.

District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta, Police Sergeant Leo Maneri and Detectives Jack Durkin and Frank Dunlap directed investigation of the accident at the scene.

First Fatal for City

Authorities said it was the City of Poughkeepsie's first traffic fatality this year.

Reports from St. Francis' Hospital today described the condition of Miss Smith as fair, and Miss Kowal was reported satisfactory.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence Quinlan told The Freeman that Mackey was killed at about 8:45 p. m. Wednesday.

Falls to Make Curve

The sheriff said Mackey was driving a pickup truck owned by John R. Thornhill, Hibernia Road, Salt Point, east on Netherwood Road, Pleasant Valley, when the vehicle failed to negotiate a curve. The truck left the highway, went down an embankment and crashed into a huge boulder.

Quinlan said Mackey was thrown partly from the truck, which overturned on him.

Thornhill, who was following the truck in another vehicle, notified the sheriff's office. Deputies Donald Holden and Charles Scott investigated.

Dr. William Thompson, Rhinebeck, assistant Dutchess County medical examiner, said Mackey's death was due to a fractured skull. Dr. Thomson gave a preliminary finding of accidental death pending a formal inquest.

Plans Pulaski Mill

PULASKI, N.Y. (AP) — The Lee-Schoeller Paper Co. Inc. will build a 10-million-dollar paper mill in this Oswego County Community, it was announced today.

The facility, to manufacture photographic paper, will be built on an 183-acre site on the eastern limits of the village, about a half mile east of Interstate Route 81.

Construction will begin as soon as plans are prepared. The plant should be ready by early 1963, the company said. About 10 men and women will be employed.

Says Wagner Is Exposed as Top Chiseler of All

NEW YORK (AP)—State Sen. Thomas J. Mackell, organization Democratic candidate for city council president, said today that Mayor Robert F. Wagner "has been exposed as the champion chiseler who ever occupied City Hall."

Mackell said in a statement that City Comptroller Lawrence E. Gerosa's "disclosures of the extravagant personal use of city funds and city employes by Mr. Wagner comes as no surprise to the people of our city."

"This all follows the pattern of freeloading which the mayor has adopted and which is par for his course of conduct," Mackell said.

Mackell's organization slate is fighting Wagner's bid for a third four-year term. Gerosa, a Democrat, is an independent aspirant for the mayoralty.

Gerosa sent to Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan Wednesday city records relating to Wagner's use of three city-paid servants at his private summer home at Islip on Long Island. The servants were regularly assigned to Gracie Mansion, the mayor's official residence.

Wagner has said there was nothing improper in using the Gracie Mansion servants to help out at his summer home. He says they were not "city employes" even though they were paid out of city funds. Wagner said he holds conferences seven days a week in addition to the time spent at City Hall.

Gerosa contends that Wagner violated the city charter and committed a misdemeanor by detailing city employes to work for him outside the city.

Limited Flight Of Jets Approved At Newark Airport

NEW YORK (AP) — The Port of New York Authority has authorized jet flights on a limited scale at Newark Airport in New Jersey.

The bistate agency granted permission Wednesday to American Airlines and United Air Lines to operate jets between Newark and Chicago on specific schedules and under conditions requested by New Jersey Gov. Robert B. Meyner.

Soon after, United Air Lines said it had set its sights on a Sept. 11 starting date, with three daily round-trip flights to Chicago.

Bucs Re-sign Murtaugh

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Manager Danny Murtaugh of the defending world champion Pittsburgh Pirates—a team which has skidded to 6th place in the National League—today was given a 1962 contract.

General Manager Joe L. Brown told a news conference simply:

"Murtaugh will be back in 1962."

There was no mention of salary.

Brown said:

"In my opinion in 1961 Murtaugh has had more problems than in managing the 1960 world champions."

Evidence Given GamblerHasRace Wire for Betting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators produced evidence today that gambler Angelo Rossetti of Boston runs a race wire news service serving illegal handbook betting places scattered from Montreal to Miami and Steubenville, Ohio.

Rossetti invoked the Fifth Amendment to questions about this, pleading that answers "might tend to incriminate me."

Wire service operations of this type are legal. The Senate Investigations subcommittee dug up the evidence in exploring whether new federal laws are needed to curb organized crime.

Names Points

Jerome S. Adlerman, subcommittee counsel, stepped to a map of the United States illustrated with red lines to show, he said, how the wire service running roughly north and south from Boston serves these points:

Montreal; Manchester, N.H.; Lawrence, Mass.; Providence, R.I.; Philadelphia; Wilmington, De.; Atlantic City, N.J.; Baltimore; Miami; with offshoots to Worcester, Mass.; Hartford, Conn.; Pottsville, Pa.; Steubenville, Ohio, Cincinnati and New Orleans.

Off by itself, but not connected with any line to indicate a wire was a red ring around the St. Louis area, with a notation "William P. Brown, St. Louis Area."

Rossetti, who has served time in federal prisons as a gambling stamp tax law violator, sat impassively at the witness table as Adlerman traced the lines.

Resorts to Fifth

Rossetti had invoked the Fifth Amendment as to whether he had anything to do with any wire service, and whether he was running one now in Boston while the owner, Frank Ferrara, is serving a federal prison term for implication in a "hot bond" deal.

The subcommittee sought through questions to develop testimony from Rossetti that he is running the service for Ferrara.

But Rossetti, a short, heavy figure in a gray summer suit, refused to say whether he even knows Ferrara. He also refused to say whether Ferrara had run Rossetti's wire service, known as PHP News Service, while Rossetti served a prison term in 1956 and 1957 for nonpayment of the federal gambling stamp tax.

Rossetti gave his name and said he lives in East Boston, but told the subcommittee very little else. The official reporter told Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., that Rossetti had failed, when asked whether he swore to tell the truth, to make a reply. The witness then said "I do."

As to his business or occupation, Rossetti said, "I refuse to answer on grounds it might tend to incriminate me."

Esopus Man Is Reported Suicide

William H. Hendrix, 79, who since 1928, operated a smoking pipe factory at Union Center, Town of Esopus, died Wednesday afternoon from a self inflicted gunshot wound. He had been in ill health for some time.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle, who conducted an investigation, along with Deputy Sheriffs Peter Peterson and Joseph McNierney, issued a verdict of death from massive cranial hemorrhage "due to self inflicted gunshot wound."

Mr. Hendrix was born in Amsterdam, Holland, and had come to the United States 47 years ago. In 1928 he came to Ulster County and conducted a pipe factory at Union Center. He had been in ill health for the past two years and had been unable to operate the factory.

Wednesday afternoon he and his wife had tea in the kitchen of their home and then Mr. Hendrix left the house, going to the factory. When he had been absent for about a half hour, his wife investigated and about 5 p. m. found the body on the floor with a 32 caliber revolver bullet in the left temple.

Besides his wife, the former Gesina Hofman, he is survived by relatives in Holland.

Funeral services will be conducted tonight at 8 o'clock from the Jenson & Deegan Funeral Home, Inc., 15 Downs Street, with the Rev. Dr. Herbert I. Bloom officiating. Cremation will be at the Gardner-Earl Memorial Chapel, Troy.

Carpeters May Merge

NEW YORK (AP) — Mohasco Industries Inc. and Firth Carpet Co., leaders in the floor covering field, propose to merge.

Under tentative arrangements worked out by their respective boards, Firth probably would wind up as a division of Mohasco, the nation's largest enterprise in the carpet and rug business.

Stockholders must approve terms. No meeting dates have been set. The transaction would involve about $4.5 million.

Vols Plan Drill For Next Month At Bloomington

Plans for the next monthly drill sponsored by the Township of Rosendale Volunteer Firemen's Association to be conducted by Cottekill firemen in their district on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 24 were formulated at the Tuesday night meeting of the association at the Bloomington firehouse.

Fire Chief Ralph Temple of Cottekill Fire Co. reported the exact location of the drill will not be announced, but it probably will be held about 2 p. m. Other member companies of the association are dispatched to the scene of the simulated fire through the County mutual aid system.

Plan October Session

Reports were made of the July drill at Bloomington. The Rosendale Fire Co. will direct the October exercise in that district. Other member companies participating in the monthly drills include Binnewater and Tillson.

Herman Miller, association secretary, reported Tuesday that the first meeting of the proposed first aid and rescue squad of the the towns of Rosendale and Marbletown will be held August 30 at the Cottekill firehouse at 7:30 p. m. Officers will be elected and a constitution discussed.

All firemen and interested youths over 21 years are invited to join the proposed squad.

Mutual Aid Plans

Fire Chief Kenneth Gordon of Tillson reported his mutual aid committee is completing its revised mutual aid plan for the township. Under the plan each fire chief in the township will be provided with information needed to summon other companies when needed to assist at fires or other emergencies.

The plan also will be submitted to Winfred Snyder, county fire coordinator, and a copy will be posted at the county fire radio center at Golden Hill. Dispatchers at the control center will be informed about outside companies that are to be sent to assist companies in district areas of the town.

Herbert Faurote, association president, emphasized at Tuesday's meeting the need for an air compressor to refill air masks used by volunteers, to avoid delays at the scene of any emergency. Faurote said each company should discuss a plan to raise funds for the compressor.

Peterson Reports

Reports of the recent meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Plattekill and the annual convention at New Paltz in July were given by Charles Peterson.

It was reported that Bloomington and Rosendale fire companies have accepted invitations to participate in the annual Ellenville Remembrance Day activities to be held in that community on Sept. 9 at 3 p. m. The two companies will be accompanied by the New York State Fusiliers, a precision 65-piece fife and drum corps.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 26 at Cottekill.

Wage Formula Is Reached, Garment Workers Return

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Garment workers at six Central New York plants headed back to work today after a one-day work stoppage over payment of a minimum wage.

A spokesman for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union said owners of the plants had agreed to comply with a minimum wage formula. The formula was contained in an agreement signed June 1, the union said.

The walkout, called by the ILGU, affected more than 600 workers.

The plants involved were the Tower City Dress Co., Utica; Bertelle's, Herkimer; Merryl Dress Co., Little Falls; Osted Dress Co., Oswego; Richard Dress Corp., Little Falls, and the 213 Dress Corp., Oneonta.

Best Time

Early fall is the best time to plant a new lawn or reseed an older lawn. Temperatures then are moderate and there is generally enough moisture to cause germination and insure continued plant growth.

We The Women

Today's Young Wives Will Teach Their Experiences

By RUTH MILLETT

Last year more girls in the United States married at 18 than at any other age.

I predict the daughters of these 18-year-old brides will marry at a later age than their mamas who tripped down the aisle in 1960.

Why? Because the mamas will see to it. That's why. They will know from experience that 18 is a little young for taking on the responsibilities of marriage. Even if their own marriages succeed (and many will fail) they will realize soon enough that in giving up their right to a carefree girlhood they short changed themselves.

If they also gave up the opportunity of further education, they not only disappointed their parents but also short-changed their children.

And, so, they will do everything in their power to keep their own daughters from rushing into marriage at 18. They'll be against dating too early, against steady dating in the early teens. They'll know better than to hurry their daughters into growing up.

And so the pendulum will very likely begin to swing away from early marriages, as mothers who married young, themselves, do their best to see to it that their daughters aren't in quite such a big rush to marry and settle down.

By age 25, many of 1960's brides who married at 18 or younger will have realized that they could have had their cake and eaten it, too. That is, that they could have enjoyed their girlhood a few more years and still have had plenty of time for marriage and motherhood and responsibilities and hard work.

And they'll do their best to see that their daughters realize that fact before they say "I do," instead of afterward, wher it is too late.

Need More

that you will have sound technical advice for the State Civil Defense Agency."

The latter assistance mentioned, materialized to some extent last Saturday when a state engineer with local officials toured caves off Delaware Avenue now being used by Knaust Brothers, Inc., for mushroom growing. He indicated he was impressed with potential use of the caves as protection against nuclear fallout, and said a first study phase will deal with air conditioning.

Must Start Locally

The Freeman learned from both Washington and Albany sources last year that fallout shelter projects must start on a local basis, but cooperation can be expected from both state and federal engineers.

William J. Ronan, secretary to Gov. Rockefeller, in a letter of May 2, 1960 wrote:

"The State Civil Defense Commission informs us that data on the defense and shelter possibilities of all the large caves, mines and other underground areas, capable of development has been prepared by the United States Army Corps of Engineers. This data has been made available to the local civil defense organizations. The limestone caves in your area are included in the facilities studied by the army engineers."

Will Help on Stocking

Recent reports from federal sources indicate that federal aid will be available, at least for stocking of shelters, when surveys are completed. The state, at this point, is prepared only to offer the assistance of its engineers.

Local action toward consideration of the limestone caves began on suggestion of Third Ward Alderman Donald M. Hastings, who heads a special Common Council committee. He suggested recently that the mayor place the city on record in Washington as being interested in federal aid.

Prowlers Get 3 Days, Hearing Is Due on Argument

Two men were booked Wednesday afternoon on charges dealing with unlawful intrusion after a report that they had attempted to enter St. Peter's School, and two others were booked after a reported altercation on upper Broadway.

Cleveland Edward Harrison Stone Jr., 29, of Chelsea, Mass. and Louis Czirjak, 45, of 161 West 36th Street, New York, were picked up by police on McEntee Street near Broadway after police headquarters had been notified that they were seen near the school. Detective William Slover with officers John Turck, James Amato, Joseph Kivlan, and Vincent Eckert were dispatched to the area.

The two were sentenced to three days each by Special City Judge Arthur B. Ewig today after they said that they had been drinking and were just prowling around the area.

James Massa, 21, of 85 John Street, was charged with third degree assault by Robert Gorsline, 22, of 48 Abruyn Street and the latter was booked on a disorderly conduct charge after a reported argument at 683 Broadway.

Gorsline claims that Massa had grabbed him around the neck and threw him down, and Massa said Gorsline had used abusive language. Hearing for both was put over to Aug. 28.

Raymond L. Navara, 17, of Lake Katrine, charged with speeding and two counts of making unnecessary noise, paid $10 for speeding and $5 on each of the other charges.

nervous about the condition of the tower — previously damaged in storms — was Brig. Gen. William Elder. Elder also testified Wednesday.

Appeared Overcautious

Sheppard told about telephoning to Elder about the storm forecast and he said the general appeared to think he was overcautious.

Another witness, Maj. Reginald L. Stark, commander of an electronic maintenance squadron, testified that three days before the tower collapse he relayed to Banks information he had picked up to the effect that the employers of civilian workers on the tower planned to take them off Feb. 1.

Maj. Leo V. Sayer, commander of the weather squadron at Stewart, testified that two days before the tower collapse he gave Banks a briefing by telephone on high winds expected in the tower area. Sayer said that as the winds got worse he called Banks on the morning of the day of the disaster, but was unable to reach him.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Concern over a possible auto strike and increasing Soviet pressure in Berlin accompanied a sharp stock market decline today. Trading was moderate early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.80 at 253.70 with industrials down 3.60, rails down .50 and utilities down .30.

Losses of fractions to more than a point were taken by most key stocks.

Du Pont, off more than 3, weighted the averages to the downside.

Big Three motors were down rather sharply as investors worried about next week's deadline in the labor contract.

Steels, Rails, Oils, chemicals, tobaccos, nonferrous metals, aircrafts, electrical equipments and other major groups declined.

General Motors and Ford each dropped well over a point in active trading. Chrysler was off a fraction.

American Motors and Studebaker-Packard posted fractional gains.

Zenith, down about 4 points, sustained additional profit taking. The same factor accounted for declines of more than a point in Phillips Petroleum and more than 2 in Gillette.

Goodyear was a 1-point loser in a rubber section whose other stocks were only slightly lower.

General Electric and Schering also were off around a point.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 7.08 at 713.38.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were irregular.

TALK ACROSS THE BORDER IN BERLIN—Conversing across a barricade, members of the East German People's Police try to explain the situation to West Berliners after the Reds closed an East-West border crossing point in the city Aug. 23. (NEA Radio-Telephoto)

U. S. Grenade

Affects About 800

The restriction affects more than 800 Western nationals living in East Germany, including about 500 Dutch; 100 Swedes; 200 British, mostly elderly and many with dual German-British nationality; a few Belgians and Danes and an unknown number of Norwegians.

Western nations have no diplomatic representation in East Germany because they do not recognize the Communist regime.

An uneasy calm prevailed along the border through Berlin today but new moves by the Communists against the Western half of the city were generally anticipated.

British on Alert

For the second time this week British troops were called out for an early morning practice alert. One company of the Welsh Regiment, accompanied by three Centurion tanks and three armored cars, made a foray to the industrial district of Siemensstadt.

They set up antitank guns and mortars and roadblocks but let civilians on their way to work pass. The practice lasted three hours.

American British and French troops faced East German forces along the barricades all night. They were rushed into position Wednesday after the Communists had warned all West Berliners to stay 328 feet back from the border "in the interests of their own safety."

Weapons at the Ready

With their weapons at the ready, the Allied troops patrolled the tense border area close to the concrete walls and barbed-wire fences set up by the Reds to prevent East Germans from escaping westward.

Moscow Radio said the Allied patrolling amounted to military provocation. But there were no incidents involving the Allied troops.

West Berlin police said Communist border guards at one crossing point in the U.S. sector threw four tear gas bombs at 40 West Berlin youths listening to a news broadcast from a police truck's loudspeaker. But a strong wind blew the gas back on the Communist side of the fence.

New Word Likely

Speculation was widespread that the Communists, after reducing the crossing points through the barricades to seven points Wednesday, would next declare the border an official state frontier and close it to all Westerners, including Allied representatives. Although the Allies contend that all Berlin is still under four-power occupation—of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union — the Communists claim that the Soviet sector of Berlin is part of "East German sovereign territory."

Officials, troops and citizens of the three Western Allies and foreigners still can cross at the one checkpoint without hindrance, but West Germans and West Berliners need special permits.

Another possible move appeared to be cutting West Berlin's rail links with the West, which are operated by the Communists. The East Germans charged Wednesday that West Berlin toughs are sabotaging the Red-run elevated train system through West Berlin. Otto Arndt, general manager of the railroads, said if this continues, "serious disturbances" in rail traffic between Berlin and the West could result.

About 27 per cent of the total freight going in and out of West Berlin moves by rail.

A new Soviet note on Berlin delivered to the three Western Allies' ambassadors in Moscow Wednesday reportedly accused the United States of airlifting spies into West Berlin. Observers in the U.S. capital immediately speculated that it foreshadowed some Communist tampering with the air corridors into the city.

Capital Studies Note From Reds On Berlin Lanes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Soviet note on Berlin was being studied by U.S. diplomats today. Informants said it accused the United States of airlifting espionage agents into the city and may be a forewarning of some Soviet tampering with Berlin's air corridors.

The informants, who had been briefed on the note's contents, said it had arrived from Moscow during a 2½-hour session Wednesday of Western Big Four ambassadorial group considering the Soviet moves in Berlin and how to meet them.

Note Not Public

The note—which has not been made public—accused the United States of provocative acts in Germany, one source reported.

While the State Department declined comment pending a study of the note, a Western diplomat said the document dealt with access to Berlin—a key question in the German crisis.

The Western Allies regard their supply lines to West Berlin as vital—and so far these have not been disturbed by the Communists as they mount pressure on the city.

U.S. officials believe Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in saying he will sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany by the end of the year, has not made clear what this would do to access to Berlin.

The Western powers say their Berlin rights stem from World War II occupation and cannot be done away with by one-sided Soviet action.

On the grounds that the new East Berlin border restrictions imposed by the Reds Wednesday do not directly impair Western rights, U.S. sources indicated that any response by the Western powers would be limited.

Follows Red Pattern

The State Department said the new restrictions follow a Communist pattern, highlighted by the erection of East Berlin border barricades Aug. 13, imprisoning the 17 million East Berliners and the East Germans "behind the barbed-wire and concrete curtains."

The Western commandants in Berlin protested as illegal the new Red regulations, under which the West Berliners and West Germans were restricted in entry points to East Berlin and non-German Western officials were told they could enter at only one crossing.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson was reported to have recommended to President Kennedy a further buildup of U.S. military power in West Berlin.

Johnson reportedly was proposing that U.S. troops stationed there be given some more modern military equipment. The American forces in Berlin total about 6,500 since the arrival of 1,500 more troops during Johnson's visit last weekend to the Communist-encircled city.

Stick With Rising Groups, Avoid Lagging Industries

Q) "Why do some big security houses come up with such poor suggestions? They seem to give buy-advice without any consideration of market analysis and the price of the stock at the time. Isn't market analysis as important as security analysis? Two years ago my broker suggested some railroad stocks which have been moving down ever since. Do you think it is wise to average down when it is the industry, not individual conditions, that is depressing the stock?" J.M.

A) This letter brings out a very important point, and I am devoting my whole column to it.

It is perfectly true that many analysts pay too much attention to individual company earnings and dividends and altogether too little to what you refer to as market analysis.

Your broker probably felt quite sincerely that the rail stocks he suggested on the basis of then existing earnings and dividends were fundamentally cheap.

What he failed to take into consideration was the fact that rail stocks two years ago were moving sideways while the market as a whole was moving up, indicating that something might be wrong under the surface. We call such counter-trend performance poor relative action.

Here at my office I have charted and followed closely the market movement of 57 stock groups in relation to each other and to the market as a whole. Since individual stocks rarely move contrary to the trend of their group or industry, I normally recommend stocks in the "good" groups and avoid commitments in the poor-action industries.

If you follow the market very closely, you can do the same thing yourself in a general way. In principle, I am against averaging down, except in very special cases, until I feel certain that a real turn has come. I do not yet feel so about the rail group.

Dutchess Pair

entries from several stables which never before have competed at Rhinebeck. Post entries are accepted.

Appearing before the free grandstand on the first three days will be television star Carmel Quinn, well known to viewers of the Jack Paar and Arthur Godfrey shows; Les Paul and Mary Ford will appear in person Monday and Tuesday to sing their favorite hits and Guy Mitchell will be the headliner on closing day, Wednesday. On the bill with them will be Clay Beckett, who performs breath-taking acts while spinning on a giant self-propelled hoop; Harry and Hariet King, fast moving hand balancing act; Rex and Elaine Ramer, a barrel of laughs; the Boginos Brothers, tumblers-dancers and Gino and Mary Ann, juggling and balancing.

There also will be extra glamour on opening and closing days. The 1962 Miss Rheingold contestants will be on the grounds opening day with Miss Janet Mick, the 1961 queen, a visitor on the last day.

One exhibit every housewife will want to visit is the new ranch style house built on the showgrounds as a cooperative venture between Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. and the fair. It has every modern appliance using electricity—even to brushing one's teeth electrically.

Also expected to draw heavily in spectator interest are the Project Mercury exhibit of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which includes a space capsule like the one used by Astronauts Shepard and Grissom and the Atomic Energy Commission exhibit which has many experiments which spectators may try right on the showgrounds.

Program Highlights

Here, in brief, are highlights of the Dutchess fair:

Friday, Aug. 25, 9 a. m., judging of 4H Holsteins, 4H Ayrshires, Flower show, vegetables, Grange exhibits, Arts and Crafts, Fruits, and Field Crops; 10 a. m. open class Ayrshires; noon to 6 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 26, 9 a. m., open class Holsteins, 4-H Jerseys, Pony show and poultry show; 10 a. m. open class sheep; 11 a. m. 4H sheep; and 2 and 8 p. m. Carmel Quinn and the show of the stars.

Sunday, Aug. 27, 10 a. m. Western Horse show; 2 p. m., 4H dress review in judging tent; 2 and 8 p. m. the Carmel Quinn show.

Monday, Aug. 28, 9 a. m., breeding Aberdeen Angus show, and open class Jerseys; 10 a. m. 4H Guernseys; 9:30 a. m. English horse show; 10 a. m. Flower show; and 2 and 8 p. m. recording stars Les Paul and Mary Ford head up an all-star vaudeville show at the free grandstand.

Tuesday, Aug. 29, 9 a. m., open class Guernseys, and 4H Baby Beef show; 9:30 a. m. English horse show; 10 a. m. Flower-show; 1 p. m., two-hour show.

Wednesday, Aug. 30, 9 a. m., 4H Dairy showmanship; 2 p. m., 4H beef showmanship; 2 p. m. Dutch Arms Fife and Drum Corps; and 2 and 8 p. m. singer Guy Mitchell and show, and 8 p. m. Tivoli Rockettes.

Always on display: Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. all-electric ranch style home; Project Mercury exhibit with a space capsule and dummy man inside; the "Atom and You" exhibit, and thousands of educational and entertainment features ad a giant carnival midway.

Indications Are

near the apartment, for Mrs. Temple's white shoes and pocketbook.

Robbery Motive Seen

Ryan said Mrs. Temple reportedly carried $350. The motive for the killing may have been robbery, he said.

Trudeau, heavy-set and balding, bore scratches on his hand and a mark on his face, Ryan said. Flesh particles under Mrs. Temple's finger nails were being analyzed.

Ryan said Trudeau, who had a record dating to 1928, owned a shotgun, was unemployed and attempted to buy a house without authorization — all parole violations.

Meeting Arranged

Trudeau had telephoned the Coyne Realty Co. Friday in response to an advertisement describing the house and asked for "Miss Temple," as the dead woman was named in the ad. A meeting was arranged.

Mrs. Temple later called the owner of the home and said she would be over shortly with a purchase offer, Ryan said. Then Mrs. Temple told her office she would return in 20 minutes.

Trudeau maintained he did not buy the house because of its $39,000 price.

When Mrs. Temple failed to return, Joseph Coyne, her employer and friend, notified police.

Ryan said Mrs. Temple had had an argument early Friday with Coyne's estranged wife, Mrs. Marjorie L. Coyne. A couple of days after the slaying, Mrs. Coyne went to visit relatives in Maryland, Ryan said, but she was here today for questioning. She and her husband have been separated for about a year.

Coyne said Mrs. Temple telephoned her office at about 1 p.m. Friday. Trudeau's fiancee, Miss Betty Ricciano, 29, said Trudeau met her at 4:30 p.m. They planned to be married this coming Saturday, she said.

Danger of Compacts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Kay Dyer drives a compact car. Three times in less than three months she was hit by larger vehicles. The third time made her the maddest.

She had just gotten her car from the garage after repairs for the second accident, and was driving home from work to dine with friends. While stopped at a traffic light, a large automobile hit her car from the rear. The driver got out, and explained:

"I looked right, I looked left, but I didn't look down."

Almost one-third of the entire population of the United States lives within or near the boundaries of the nation's 15 largest cities.

Smile

Many women forget that facial expression is just as important to their appearance as a beautiful complexion or attractive features. If you look glum or irritable, it goes without saying, you won't look beautiful.

Clean Gloves

Ribbon-trimmed fabric gloves are made to be washed after each wearing. You can't wear anything as feminine as ribbon-trimmed gloves unless they're fresh out of the suds.

New System

Developed during World War II, the loran system enables a navigator to fix his position by measuring the time difference between the receipt of signals sent out by two synchronized radio stations.

Tough on Teeth

Teeth are for chewing and not for the damaging things many persons subject them to, such as biting off thread, opening bobby pins, chewing pencils, biting hard candy or cracking nuts.

Call Your Dentist

Lauren Bacall Is Back in Hollywood With New Hubby

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lauren Bacall, looking long and lovely, is back in town with a new husband and a new life. But not for long.

The widow Bogart is now Mrs. Jason Robards Jr. She came to Hollywood while her bridegroom finished "Tender is the Night." But a return to her old haunts didn't temper her view of the movie town.

"Some people think I'm bitter about Hollywood," she commented in her hotel apartment. "I'm not bitter. I'm realistic.

"I was in quicksand before I left this town. If I was to continue to function as an actress, as a woman and as a mother, I had to leave. I did, and it was the greatest thing that ever happened to me."

She went east with her two children by Humphrey Bogart. She did "Goodbye, Charlie" on the stage — "They loved me, hated the play." And in the Broadway swim she met Robards.

After an international quest for a marriage license, they wed last month in Mexico. The new Mrs. Robards Jr. who speaks mildly on no topic, said her husband is not only a great actor (most critics agree) but "a hell-uva guy."

He also is a good boozer.

"I have a pretty good background with boozers. I married one of the best when I was just a kid. That was quite a baptism of fire, with drinkers like Bogie, (Mark) Hellinger, (Charles) Butterworth, (Robert) Benchley and Johnny McClain.

"But I knew if I tried to keep up with their drinking I'd get deathly ill. I had to find a solution."

She did, with a brand of sour mash bourbon which she sips through the evening. It has been adopted by her onetime flame, Frank Sinatra, as the official beverage of his social grouping.

"I discovered it long before he did," snapped Mrs. Robards. "In fact, I introduced him to it."

Several rare American animals recently have been given by the Zoological Garden of Washington, D. C., to the West Berlin Zoo. Included are pelicans, a turkey vulture and a rare golden eagle.

West Falls Into South's Trap

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Is South's opening spade bid correct? The answer is a distinct affirmative in expert circles where no one opens with a preemptive bid in first or second seat if he hahppens to hold two aces.

How about the rest of the bidding? West has a good double, and North's raise to two spades is primarily an attempt to shut East out.

East might well have allowed himself to be shut out, but there have been many worse bids than the three-heart call.

At this point South might well have jumped right to four spades but he knew his opponents and felt that a mere bid of three might lead to a double of an eventual four-spade contract.

Sure enough, West fell into the trap. He bid four hearts, doubled four spades, and opened the king of clubs.

There was very little to the play. South had five losers in his hand. Mummy's ace of diamonds would account for one of them, the fifth diamond for another, provided it could be set up.

South took his ace of clubs, led a diamond to dummy's ace, ruffed a diamond, entered dummy with the nine of trumps, ruffed another diamond, entered dummy with the ten of trumps, ruffed a fourth diamond; got over to dummy once more with the king of trumps, cashed that fifth diamond and conceded three tricks to the enemy.

Po'keepsie Man To Face Federal Larceny Charge

A 22-year-old former West Virginia man was arrested at Poughkeepsie Tuesday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents charged with the theft and destruction of a government jeep.

H. G. Foster, special agent in charge of the New York City district, said George Junior Mock, of Beckley, W. Va., was accused of stealing the jeep in West Virginia.

Mock was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Thomas Saccoman here and held in lieu of $2,000 bail.

Foster said Mock had been employed in a Poughkeepsie auto body repair shop and had a room in a Manchester Road residence.

If convicted, Mock could be sentenced to 10 years in prison or fined $10,000 or both.

'Nooten Eylandt'

Governors Island, First Army headquarters in New York harbor, was known to pioneer Dutch settlers as "Nooten Eylandt" because of the many chestnut, hickory and other nut-bearing trees that grew there.

Established in 1782

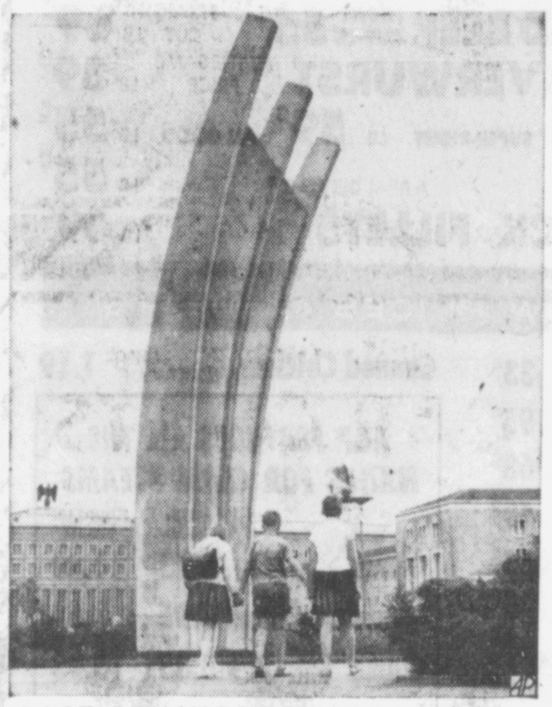

The Purple Heart medal, awarded to those wounded in action against an enemy of the United States, was established by Gen. George Washington in 1782.

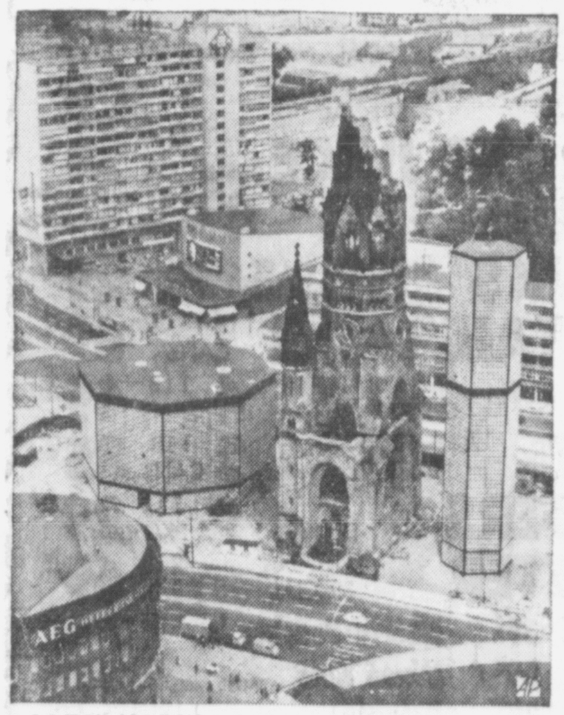

TO HEAD WAF— Lt. Col. Elizabeth Ray is to be the next director of Women in the Air Force (WAF.). She will take command, with the rank of colonel, on Sept. 1.

The Green Mountains of Vermont and the White Mountains of New Hampshire are in the same Appalachian mountain range.

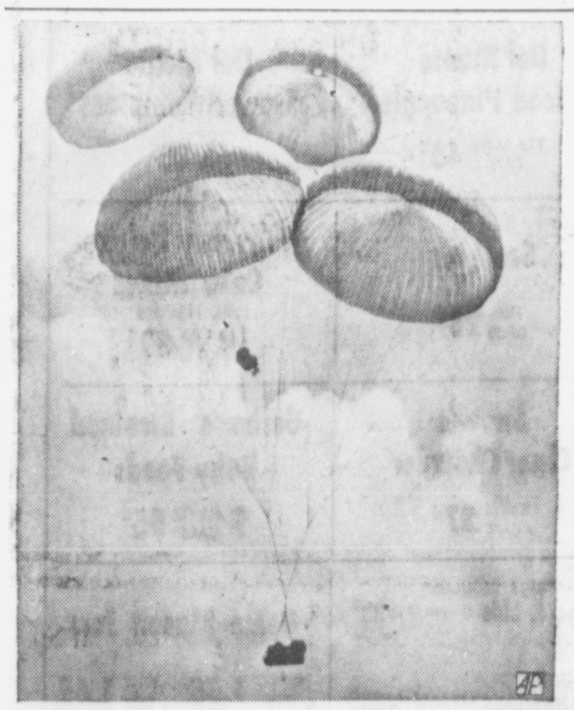

Ohio, with 7.5 million pounds, ranks fifth among states of the Union in red clover seed production.

PAST REMINDER — Youngsters walk near West Berlin's Tempelhof airport. The monument commemorates Allied airlift during Soviet blockade of city in 1948.

CITY VIEW — Among the notable landmarks n West Berlin is the war-ruined Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial Church, now flanked by a new glass chapel and bell tower.

SKY DELIVERY — Huge parachutes lower two jeeps to the ground after drop from C-135 cargo plane during part of the giant Exercise Swift Strike at Cheraw, S. C.

MILLBROOK

ENRICHED BREAD

Miracle-Mix

No Holes!

Research proves Millbrook's Miracle-Mix gives you LONGER BREAD-BOX LIFE than ordinary bread!

Laboratory tests proved it! Ordinary bread, baked from old-fashioned dough, has big air-holes that speed drying out. But Millbrook's new batter-blending method whips air-holes out...keeps freshness in! Slice after slice...meal after meal...Miracle-Mix comes out of your bread box fresh-tasting, appetizing. Less waste...more good eating...in every loaf!

MIRACLE-MIX WINS IN ALL THREE TESTS. TEXTURE AND MOISTURE TESTS WERE MADE OVER A PERIOD OF FIVE DAYS UNDER BREAD-BOX-TYPE CONDITIONS.

MOISTURE: Ordinary bread lost at least twice as much moisture as Miracle-Mix!

TEXTURE: Miracle-Mix proved much softer than ordinary bread in controlled scientific tests.

TASTE: Consumer taste panels preferred Miracle-Mix almost two-to-one for flavor over ordinary bread "A."

Just to make sure you get genuine Miracle-Mix with longer bread-box life... we've put this Ⓜ brand on every loaf!

Set OCS District Referendum On Bonded Debts, Sept. 21

The Onteora Board of Education has set Thursday, Sept. 21 as the date for a district wide referendum on the matter of the entire Onteora Central Schools District absorbing the bonded indebtedness now being paid as surtaxes by former Common School District No. 2 of Woodstock and former Union Free School District No. 5 of West Hurley.

The total amount involved is $309,340.

Board action this week followed a motion by Trustee Janet Greene of Woodstock that the proposal, agreed upon by the board last March, be submitted for referendum on Sept. 21. Trustee Edward G. West, who submitted his resignation at the same meeting, seconded the motion.

All members of the board present voted for the Greene resolution. Trustee Ray Cruthers at first voted against the measure in a 7-1 ballot, but later made it unanimous when informed that the vote was merely to authorize the referendum and did not reflect support of the proposal by any or all of the trustees.

Supporting the Greene-West resolution on the roll call vote were Philip Gordon, board president; and Trustees Ann Larys, Harry Allen, Arthur P. Knight, John Aalto. Cruthers then changed his vote to make it unanimous. Trustee Marie Kleine was absent because of illness.

In discussion on the motion, Trustee Cruthers asked if the referendum were not just a prelude to another bond issue in the district. He said the result would not have too much effect on a bond issue.

President Gordon said the matter had been decided in effect on March 20 and had been kicked around long enough. He recalled that the Onteora Board did not originally want to absorb the indebtedness at the time of annexation. He said the board wished to avoid doing anything that might be construed as a concession to bring Woodstock and West Hurley into the district.

Trustee Allen recalled the March vote to submit the resolution in the fall and said "we would look pretty sick if we didn't go through with it. It is an issue we must face and I am supporting the motion to let the people vote on it.

Cruthers said he saw no reason for "loading this on the entire district."

The Background

Hurley Union Free School District No. 5 was annexed to the Onteora Central Schools District, effective June 30, 1957. This district contributed an eight-room equipped building to the centralization, but has continued to pay the principal and interest on its bonded indebtedness through a special tax levy in addition to the regular tax it pays as part of the central district.

Effective with the 1962-63 budget, $50,000 principal plus $1,600 in interest, or a total of $51,600 remains to be paid in installments as follows:

1963—bonds outstanding, $50,000; principal, $15,000; interest, $850 for total of $15,850; 1964—bonds, $35,000; principal, $15,000; interest, $550, for total of $15,550; 1965—bonds, $20,000; principal, $20,000; interest, $200 for total of $20,200; totals—principal, $50,000; interest, $1,600; grand total, $51,600.

Woodstock Picture

Woodstock Common District No. 2 was annexed to the Onteora district effective Oct. 8, 1958. Woodstock contributed a 10-room equipped building to the centralization but has continued to pay the principal and interest on two separate debts through a special tax levy in addition to the regular tax it pays as a part of the central district.

Effective during the 1962-63 school year, $154,000 principal plus $42,780 in interest for a total of $196,780 remains to be paid on one bond debt and $47,000 principal plus $13,960 in interest for a total of $60,960 remains to be paid on a second bond debt in Woodstock.

Registration Dates

Registration for those who did not register at the Annual Meeting on May 2, 1961, will be held in four election districts on Saturday, Sept. 15, from 2 p. m. until 8 p. m., D.S.T.

Places for registration on Sept. 16 and for polling on Sept. 21 are as follows:

Election District No. 1—auditorium of the Shandaken town hall, Shandaken; District No. 2—gymnasium of the Onteora Central School in Boiceville; District No. 3—gymnasium of Woodstock elementary school in Woodstock; District No. 4—gymnasium of West Hurley elementary school.

Charles J. Tiano of Woodstock was named chairman of the special meeting of the Onteora district on Sept. 21 by the Onteora Board of Education.

A statement by the Board of Education in conjunction with plans for the district wide vote follows:

School law requires, during the process of annexation to a central district, that former districts continue to pay their own outstanding bonded indebtedness through an additional tax levy on the former district over and above the tax levy of the central school district unless the voters of the total central district elect to assume the obligations for bonded indebtedness of those former districts. Thus, the annexed districts contribute their buildings and their educational equipment to the central district for use by the total district, must assume their share of the current and future indebtedness of the central district, and in addition continue to pay for their own bonded indebtedness alone.

Woodstock Bank Changes Name

The Board of Directors of the Bank of Orange County has announced the change of name of this banking institution to The National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties, effective as of Aug. 15, 1961.

This change in name was deemed appropriate in recognition of the outstanding growth and progress realized in the Ulster County branch banks of the Bank of Orange County in Woodstock and Rosendale, the bank statement said.

There are no changes in personnel or policies of this banking institution that has been serving individuals, business and industry for a period of more than 149 years.

The National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties was founded in 1812 and is listed among the eight oldest banks in New York State.

Francis W. Murray Jr. has held the position of president since 1919. The Murray family have been directing officers in this bank since 1834, for an uninterrupted period of more than 127 years.

Frank A. Benson of Woodstock is vice president and director. Elbert C. Varney is assistant vice president and manager of the Woodstock bank. Richard Gibbs is assistant cashier. Leif Anderson is assistant vice president in charge of the Rosendale bank.

This banking institution which has been in business for 149 years has its banking organizations in Goshen, Woodstock and Rosendale.

The Woodstock branch was opened nine years ago and the Rosendale branch eight years ago.

Charles Rosen's Works Are Due At Lewis Gallery

Charles Rosen, distinguished American artist (1878-1950) will have a restrospective exhibition at the Lewis Gallery in Woodstock, Sept. 2 through Sept. 10.

In looking at Rosen's paintings one is impressed by their fine quality and strength and the honesty of his vision. Striving for personal fulfillment seems a typically American idea, and his successful battle for a lucid personal statement parallels the struggle of American art.

By 1916, Rosen was an academician of the first rank, having won many prizes and honors including two Hallgarten prizes, the Inness Gold Medal and the first Altman prize. So, at 39, having just been elected to the National Academy, he was at the apex of a career. But somewhere in this period he became disillusioned with academic ritual and embarked on that treacherous journey—the search for deeper expression of personal vision. (Which is, figuratively speaking, what separates the men from the boys in the art world). He spent ten years in exploration, study and work and emerged with an architecture of his own.

Rosen came to Woodstock in 1916 as an instructor at the Art Students League and built his permanent home here in 1922. In that same year he founded the Woodstock School of Painting with Henry Lee McFee and Andrew Dasburg. Over the years the faculty included well known Woodstockers such as Konrad Cramer, Judson Smith, Henry Mattson and Kuniyoshi. The 1917-20 winters were spent in Columbus, Ohio, teaching at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts School.

Painted Beacon Murals

The Beacon post office murals were executed by Rosen in 1936. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau spent an afternoon with the Rosens inspecting the murals. Mrs. Roosevelt was charmed and later wrote about the visit in her column. He was commissioned to paint the Palm Beach, Fla. post office murals and was chosen to paint one of the Poughkeepsie post office murals.

The next four years he wintered in San Antonio, Texas. The first two were as director of the Witte Museum Art Department, the remaining two as director of the newly formed McNay Art Institute.

Charles Rosen had many one-man shows and is represented in museums and private collections across the country.

He felt an enrichment from contact with his students and a close connection with people. He retained interest in his pupils until his death.

Charles Rose the human and Charles Rosen the artist were both rich men. It will be fine to be able to reconsider his painting legacy at the Lewis Gallery exhibition, Sept. 2 through Sept. 10.

Little Leaguers To Play Old Men

Rally round home plate, all you "old pro" fathers of Woodstock Township Little League. Your sons have challenged you to a real barnburner of a ball game to be played at Andy Lee Memorial field on Friday at 6:15 p. m.

The Little Leaguers will field an all-star team composed of four players selected by the managers of each of the league's four clubs. Hank Miller will manage the "Whiz Kids."

The old timers are keeping their battery selections and lineup a deep, dark secret. Rumor has it, however, that they will start a firebailing right hander and at least three home run sluggers. Dick Haberstroh will direct their strategy.

Arbiters have not yet been assigned by Umpire-in-chief Gene Snyder. However, a full staff will be on hand and substitutes will be available in the event of casualties during the game.

So, folks, some on out at 6:15 Friday evening. Bring your neighbors, friends, relatives and yourselves. Watch the youngsters perform and sympathize with the oldsters — they may never be the same again.

Reformed Church News and Notes

Adult Bible Class Sunday at 9:30 a. m. in the Woodstock Reformed Church will have as the topic of discussion: Lydia, A Christian Business Woman.

Morning worship is scheduled at 11 a. m. During the month of August, while Pastor Olson is away the service will be conducted by Ed. Tenhor. He is a midler (second year) at the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. The serman topic will be "Separated From God."

Christian Endeavor meets at 7:30 p. m. This group for high school age young people meets at 7:30. All junior and senior highs are invited to attend.

The Stewardship Committee of the Consistory meets at 8 p. m. in the annex of the church on Monday, Aug. 28.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship meets Thursday, Aug. 31. This group is for college and college age young people meeting at 7:15 p. m. at different homes around the Woodstock area.

Onteora Changes Manager's Title

The Onteora Board of Education voted this week to change the title of Business Manager in the system to Assistant to the District Principal in Charge of Business.

George Finigan of West Hurley currently holds the post. The change was designed to clarify the status of the position.

The board also authorized a tax anticipation note of $15,000 to meet current expenses, effective Sept. 1. An additional note of $60,000, if needed, was approved effective Sept. 15. Members of the Board also signed the tax warrant for 1961.

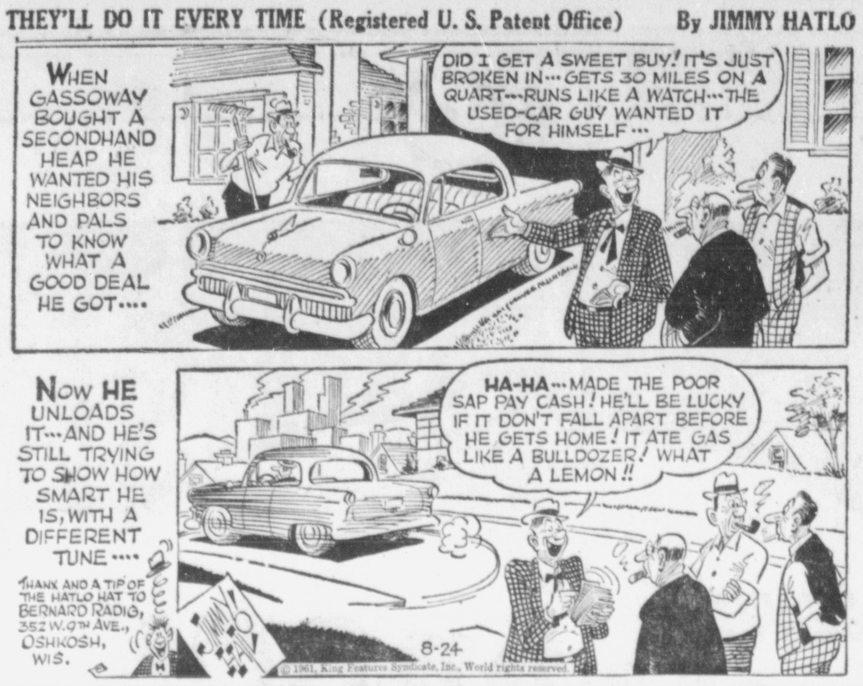

The board authorized payment of $597.86 to architectural firm of Reisner and Diamond to complete payment to Herbert Dibbell, clerk of the works at the Reginald R. Bennett building.

Mrs. Zenia Davis of Samsonville was appointed a full time cafeteria employe at a starting salary of $1500.

General contractor Eugene Ossie, Inc., was paid $21,443.80 after inspection of the Bennett building by Construction Committee members—John Aalto and Ray Cruthers, with District Principal George Sullivan, architect Reisner and a representative of Ossie's firm. Authorization for this payment was made at the regular board meeting held on June 19.

The milk contract was awarded to Babcock Dairies of Kingston and the egg bid to Morgan Hill Poultry Farm. All bids for ice cream were rejected and they will be rebid.

A decision on the lone bid for the Industrial Arts storage room was delayed. The lone bid came from William P. Doing of Boiceville, who bid $3,800 on two base bids. A decision was deferred pending a meeting with the school architects, Clark and Warren; the district principal, business manager and superintendent of buildings.

Conferees Delay Aid Compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees have put off, possibly until next week, an effort to compromise major differences on President Kennedy's foreign aid program.

They met for three hours on Wednesday without even coming to grips with the biggest conflict in separate Senate and House foreign aid bills passed last Friday.

The conflict centers on Kennedy's request for Treasury-borrowing authority to provide easy-term 10 to 50-year economic development loans to struggling nations to bulwark them against communism.

The Senate approved a five-year, $8-billion loan program, retaining the borrowing authority. The House not only rejected that method of financing but cut it to a one-year, $1.2 billion program financed by congressional appropriations.

Po'keepsie Man Found Shot in Hyde Park Barn

A 53-year-old Poughkeepsie man was found shot through the head at about 5:30 p. m. Wednesday on the floor of a horse stall in a barn off Haviland Road, Town of Hyde Park. Authorities said he was apparently a suicide.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan told The Freeman that investigation indicated Thomas Gildersleeve, of 25 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, had been dead since some time Tuesday.

Quinlan said the body was discovered by Miss Eleanor Volino, of Bahret's Trailer Park on Violet Avenue, Hyde Park, who had gone to the barn to see her horse. Miss Volino notified the sheriff's office and Undersheriff Robert Scott investigated with Deputies Charles Vandebogart and Joseph Fitzpatrick.

Authorities reported a .22 caliber rifle was found near Gildersleeve's body.

Quinlan stated the investigation is being continued in an effort to learn who owns the rifle and how Gildersleeve arrived at the barn, where he formerly cared for horses.

Dr. William Thompson, Rhinebeck, assistant Dutchess County medical examiner, gave a preliminary verdict of suicide and said death was due to self inflicted gunshot wounds, Quinlan reported.

A formal inquest into the death is pending.

U. S. Brushes Off Cuba's Truce Bid

HAVANA (AP)— Fidel Castro's regime has admitted sending out a feeler to President Kennedy for truce talks. The White House gave it the brushoff.

Cuba's economic czar Ernesto Guevara made the approach to presidential aide Richard Goodwin last Friday in Uruguay at a cocktail party after the Inter-American Economic Conference.

Guevara told a radio-TV audience Wednesday night that he informed Goodwin, one of Kennedy's Latin-American experts, that "Cuba is ready to talk" about solving differences.

Guevara said he told Goodwin Cuba "wants to remain within the hemispheric community." But he said he emphasized the Castro regime is determined to maintain its socialist political and economic systems—systems branded by Washington as communistic.

Goodwin told friends he met Guevara by chance at a party given by a Brazilian diplomat.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen the meeting "had no political significance." Salinger said it was "just a case of two men meeting at a reception and one of them being polite enough to listen for a few minutes to someone he met at a party."

Guevara, reporting on the Punta del Este conference, said the United States had tried and failed to organize armed aggression against Cuba.

Police Round Up 13 With Eye to Avert Gang War

NEW YORK (AP) — Police rounded up 13 underworld figures in Brooklyn early Wednesday in a move to head off possible gangland warfare.

Two of those taken into custody were brothers of Larry Gallo, 33, who survived an attempt on his life Sunday.

The brothers, Joseph Joey the Blond Gallo, 32, and Albert Blast Gallo, 31, and the others picked up were charged with "consorting with known criminals"—each other.

Police said the brothers had two shotguns and ammunition handy at the apartment where they were arrested, and that a possible move was afoot to avenge the attempt to kill Larry Gallo.

"It was building up to open warfare like the Roaring 20s," one detective said. "We didn't want to find bodies all over the street."

Police worked on the theory that the friction stemmed from an underworld move to block the Gallo brothers from gaining control of Brooklyn rackets.

matter of Fact

"Horses sweat, men perspire, and ladies get rosy all over." This humorous old saying has some basis in fact. Horses, along with mules and donkeys, withstand hot weather better than other farm animals because they have sweat glands to cool them off. Amongst humans, the sexes' reaction to heat varies. In experimental tests, men began perspiring at 84 degrees; women were merely "rosy all over" until the temperature hit 91 to 93 degrees.

Comments on Ways to Protect U. S. Markets

Suggests United European Bloc To Meet Threat of Competition

EDITOR'S NOTE—Lick 'em or join 'em? Americans are asking how best to handle the competitive threat of an all-European industrial trading bloc. In this, last of three articles, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, discusses the ways of protecting American jobs, and markets.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Will the United States be forced to join some sort of a common market to compete with those who are climbing aboard this kind of bandwagon?

If not, how can it adjust to the new threat to its trade abroad, its markets at home ?

A few New York bankers specializing in world trade are betting we will be forced to join in some form of a common market within 10 years. They point to the striking economic growth of the six continental European nations that formed the Common Market in 1957. They note that Britain, at first reluctant, now is finding it expedient to ask for admission and that other European nations are moving in the same direction—eventual free trade among members of the club.

Many Oppose Pact

Many American businessmen are dead set against joining in any such pact.

Some want to fight—with higher tariff and quota walls. Others favor a drive to get American production costs down to cut prices on exports.

Many, perhaps most, bankers and foreign trade economists feel the United States must meet the threat of competition with a fast growing united European industrial bloc by bargaining.

One of them, William F. Butler, economist and vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, wants America to seek concessions abroad for entry of U.S. goods by offering in return to be more hospitable to European goods here.

Clamor for Protection

This won't set well with some American business already suffering. They must compete with goods from brand new European factories with the latest equipment, manned by lower-priced labor, sometimes built with U.S. investments.

They are clamoring for more protection here. They and their labor unions say U.S. jobs are at stake as well as the health of whole U.S. industries.

Other American businessmen have struck gold in the Common Market. A more prosperous Europe has meant a bigger market for their goods.

This group holds that the answer to our trade problem is bargaining now for better trade terms, and developing more savvy in competition.

See Better Competition

Some bankers think that Americans are competing much better in world markets in the last year or so—and that Common Market competition has helped awaken them.

If Britain joins the Continental pact, more U.S. plants may be built there, Butler predicts. They would take advantage of the common language, similar laws and customs and still have full entry to the big markets on the Continent.

U.S. corporate investment in Britain came to $600 million last year and to $430 million in the Common Market countries of France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg.

Expect More Investments

The total of such U.S. business investments in all parts of the world was $32.7 billion as 1961 started. This is expected to go much higher as more American companies decide this is the only way to meet the new competive threat.

But others ask: What about U.S. workers who lose their jobs if we move our production overseas?

That is the big talking point for those who hold we must build tariff walls. It is also a talking point for those who argue Washington must demand a better deal for U.S. goods abroad.

It could turn into one of our liveliest battles—both on the home front and abroad.

INDUSTRIAL WAR—No submarine of the future, this. Workman is a shot-blaster, preparing interior of a railway tank car for installation of a special, acid-resistant rubber lining as protection against corrosive liquids. Operation is carried on at Goodyear, in Akron, Ohio.

New IBM Bank Sorters Reach 1,600 Check-a-Minute Speeds

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 24—Two new machines for the banking industry which process checks at speeds up to 1,600 a minute and postal money orders at speeds up to 1,960 a minute were announced today by International Business Machines Corporation.

The new equipment reads and sorts banking documents encoded with magnetic ink characters at speeds approximately seventy per cent greater than that of previous IBM equipment. The IBM 1419 magnetic character reader feeds checking account information directly into a computer, while the IBM 1219 reader-sorter is used for check processing independent of a computer.

"The new technology incorporated in these units enables us to offer a far more productive system to medium and large banks with only a moderate increase in cost," said Warren C. Hume, president of IBM's Data Processing Division.

"Significant design improvements have been developed by our human factors engineers and banking specialists, working with bankers, to ease the job of the operator. As a result, bank employes will find the equipment simpler to use despite the increased volume of documents being processed."

The flow of documents through the new machines is increased by nearly seventy per cent over previous IBM equipment of this type. The 1419, linked to a 1401, provided with a new processing overlap feature, increases the computer's capability in the demand deposit, or check accounting function, by as much as thirty per cent and in the transit function by as much as seventy per cent.

Two 1419 units can be attached to the IBM 1410 data processing system to provide greater capacity for banks with extremely high volume.

The increased speeds are made possible largely by reducing by half the amount of space between documents processed rather than by simply increasing the speed at which they move through the machine.

The 1,600 check a minute speed is for six-inch checks, which are within size standards set by the American Bankers Association. Fifty-one column cards, such as postal money orders can be read and selected for balancing purposes at 1,960 cards a minute.

Births Outnumber Deaths Almost 2-1 For First 6 Months

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Births outnumbered deaths almost 2-1 in New York State for the first six months of 1961 and set a record for a half-year.

The State Health Department said 180,190 children were born in the state, eclipsing the previous record for a six-month period of 179,584 set in the first half of 1959.

Last year, by contrast, there were 172,929 births through June 30, the lowest figure in 10 years for a six-month period.

Deaths during the first six months of this year totaled 90,858.

A total of 305 homicides—highest in 24 years — occurred during the period, continuing a steady rise in this category. The tuberculosis death rate, 3.8 per 100,000, was the lowest on record.

One death from poliomyelitis was reported, compared with eight for the first six months of 1960.

Urges Use of Seat Belts

Farm Program Is HitByGrowerWho Is Bureau Leader

KENDALL, N. Y. (AP) — The Kennedy administration's farm program is leading to a virtual licensing by the government of the farmer's right to produce, the president of the New York State Farm Bureau charges.

Donald F. Green Wednesday night assailed what he termed the government's attempts to set higher guaranteed prices and tighter controls on surplus crops.

"No crops or products are in trouble today except those that have been tampered with by unwise government action," Green added.

Syracuse Man Killed, Eight Hurt in Crash

ELBRIDGE, N.Y. (AP)—Michael Mahan, 65, of Syracuse was killed Wednesday and eight other men were injured in a truck-automobile crash on Route 5 near this community southwest of Syracuse.

Mahan, a passenger in the truck, died in Auburn Memorial Hospital several hours after the accident.

State Police said the truck, carrying eight construction workers to Auburn, skidded on wet pavement on a curve and collided with the car.

Sidney Gross, 32, of Brooklyn, driver of the car, was reported in critical condition in the hospital today.

The construction workers were reported in fair or good condition. All were from Syracuse.

Doctor Is Slain By Intruder Who Also Wounds Wife

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—A well-to-do Long Island physician was stabbed to death by a man who broke into his Tudor style home shortly before 1 a.m. today.

The victim's wife, also a physician, suffered critical stab wounds.

Dr. Paul Behrendt, 65, was stabbed several times. One knife thrust in the chest was so vicious that three ribs were cut through.

His wife, Dr. Frances Behrendt, 55, also was stabbed a number of times.

Police theorized that the assailant was bent on burglary and was surprised in the kitchen by the male doctor, who was carrying a cane, apparently for protection.

Police said that apparently nothing was stolen from the expensive house in this fashionable New York City suburb.

Several cabinets, which may contain narcotics, were locked. The male doctor's wallet, containing a considerable amount of money, was found in his bedroom. Jewelry belonging to him and his wife also was found by investigators.

The wife was in such poor condition at Nassau County Hospital that she could not be questioned.

Gander Threat Eased by Rain

ST. JOHN's, Nfld. (AP)—Smoke from smoldering forest fires continued to hamper operations at Gander International Airport today. But showers had ended the threat of fire for the time being.

The airport was closed for six hours Tuesday when flames reached a runway and smoke cut visibility to zero.

The rain dampened down some of the many fires that have been raging through Newfoundland's valuable timberlands for the past 2½ months. But more hot, dry weather was predicted.

Coup Balkers Retired

SEOUL (AP)—The South Korean military junta today retired two three-star army generals who balked at supporting the military coup last May.

They were Lt. Gen. Lee Hanlim, former commander of the 1st Field Army, and Lt. Gen. Choi Suk, former commander of the 3rd Army Corps. Both were arrested after the coup but were released on Aug. 15, the nation's Liberation Day.

Named to IBM Engineer Post

JOHN J. HOFLER

The appointment of John J. Hofler, of Hurley as a senior engineer has been announced by Ralph G. Mork, manager of the IBM Federal Systems Division Command Control Center engineering laboratory at Kingston.

As a senior engineer he will be responsible for the activities of personnel assigned to commercial displays and Project GEM.

Hofler joined IBM in 1946 in the Electric Typewriter Division in Poughkeepsie. After taking an educational leave of absence from 1947 to 1951, he rejoined the ET Division as a typewriter designer and was named an electronic designer the following year. He was transferred to early SAGE computer development in Poughkeepsie as a circuit designer in early 1953.

Named an associate engineer in mid-1954, in circuits, he moved to the Command Control Center in early 1955 and was named a project engineer there in mid-1955. Named a product engineer one year later, he served in that area until 1958 when he was transferred to the IBM Research Division, Mohansic. He returned to Kingston in communications systems in 1959 and was assigned to his present area in early 1960, a post he held until his present appointment.

Hofler is a member of the Town of Ulster Kiwanis, Hurley Cub Scouts and the Association for the Help of Retarded Children. He received a bachelor of electrical engineering degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Hofler, his wife Frances and children Gregory, 13, Dolores, 11, Steven, 10, Michael, 9, and Donna, 3, reside on Hurley Mountain Road, Hurley.

French Police Seize Broadcast Figures

ALGIERS (AP)—French police announced today that they had seized the persons responsible for a false Algiers broadcast Aug. 5 attacking President Charles de Gaulle.

The broadcast caused some listeners to believe that the government radio station had been seized by militant right-wingers opposed to De Gaulle.

Tobin 25-Year Club Members

Herbert Rumsey Jr., president of Tobin Packing Co., Inc., and John M. Watson, vice president, have become members of the firm's 25-Year Club. Inductions and presentation of quarter-century pins and awards took place Saturday, August 19, at the home of Frederick M. Tobin, chairman of the board.

Also new members of the Tobin 25-Year Club are: Arthur Fisher, Joseph W. Pierce, Jerry J. McCarthy, Frank F. Thomas, Archie W. Archambeau, William H. Clymer, Ralph D. Cristman, Joseph Bazzar, and Hilda Smith.

Rumsey was last year elected president and general manager of Tobin, which produces First Prize meats and meat products in plants at Rochester and Albany. He joined the company in an advisory capacity in 1935. A prominent figure in the American meat packing industry, he is a director of the National Independent Meat Packers Association, and of the Eastern Meat Packers Association. He is a member of the American Meat Institute's Sausage and Civil Defense Mobilization Committees, and of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Livestock Research and Marketing Advisory Committee.

Watson joined the Tobin organization in Fort Dodge, Iowa, and was sales manager of its plant there when it was sold. Moving to Rochester, he has been a sales and operating executive, and last year became vice president and assistant manager of the Tobin Rochester Division.

Almost Like Playing Hockey With Dynamite Cap

War of Words Continues Between East-West on Crisis Over Berlin

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This whole Berlin crisis has now become a game of tit for tat—with both sides playing it, the United States as well as the Soviet Union — although it's like playing hockey with a dynamite cap.

Both sides talk of reaching a peaceful settlement. Neither attempts a move to start it. And meanwhile both tighten the crisis.

Shooting Last Wish

The Communists seal off East Berlin to keep non-Communist East Germans from escaping to West Berlin. The United States won't interfere but it sends 1,500 troops into West Berlin, not for any practical purpose but as a gesture.

The Reds retaliate by making it harder for Westerners to cross into East Berlin. The United States, Britain and France rush troops and tanks to the barricades. They are not going to do anything either.

So troops on both sides glare at each other over the barricade while the last thing any of them wants is shooting.

The latest move: a Moscow note to Washington accusing the United States of ferrying spies and saboteurs into Berlin.

As usual, the whole crisis started with talk.

Premier Khrushchev began by repeated warnings early in 1961 that he would sign a peace treaty with the East German Communists, a move the Allies interpret as the first in a series to shut them off from West Berlin altogether.

Then on June 3-4 in his Vienna talks with President Kennedy, he set a six-month deadline for signing the treaty and making Berlin a "free city." The West can't stop him from signing the treaty but it could fight to stay in Berlin.

Two Trade Charges

By June 28 Khrushchev had made four speeches, repeating his warning and accusing the West of building up Berlin tensions. On June 28 at a news conference Kennedy said Khrushchev was building up tensions.

Khrushchev threw another coal on the fire July 8 when he ordered a 25 per cent increase in Soviet defense spending. And Kennedy replied in kind July 25 in his TV talk to the nation when he announced a buildup in American defenses and pledged American support of West Berlin.

East Germans had been fleeing from Communist East Germany into West Berlin at the rate of 1,000 a day but Khrushchev's belligerent talk scared them into crossing over at the rate of 2,000 a day.

This was a reaction Khrushchev could neither have expected nor wanted since the Communist regime in East Germany badly needed the manpower which was dashing westward.

So on Aug. 13 the Communists sent troops and tanks to the edges of East Berlin, sealed off all the escape hatches for the East Germans but still let visitors from West Berlin move into Eas Berlin.

Neither the United States nor any of the other Allies was willing to do anything to force the East German Communists to open the hatches again since that would probably mean war. So all the Allies did was stand by and protest.

West Berlin lies not in West Germany but 110 miles inside East Germany and people and supplies bound for the city can't get through from the West unless the East German Communists let them through.

Berliners Want Action

Nevertheless German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, running for re-election, talked ominously of wanting trade between the two Germanys shut off. He dropped that kind of talk when the East Germans warned, if he tried it, to blockade Berlin altogether.

But the West Berliners and their mayor, Willy Brandt, who's running against Adenauer, got exasperated by the willingness of the Allies to protest and do nothing. They wanted action.

So Kennedy sent Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson over in a hurry to cheer them up. This he seemed to do although he added nothing new when he pledged the United States to defend West Berlin .Kennedy himself had done that weeks before.

Kennedy also took 1,500 American troops out of their regular defense positions in West Germany and sent them into West Berlin. (The Soviets let them travel through Germany to get to the city since, to stop them, might have meant war.)

But the troops, while the sight of them may have boosted West Berlin morale, added nothing to the defense of the city. They're in a box in Berlin whereas they weren't in West Germany since there are about 400,000 East GQE man and Soviet troops surrounding West Berlin in East Germany

Visits Irritate Reds

Then Adenauer visited the city. This, on top of the Johnson visit, irritated the Communists and they retaliated by tightening restrictions on Westerners, including troops and diplomats, who might want to go from West Berlin into East Berlin.

Not to be outdone the United States, Britain and France sent troops and tanks to the barricades now separating East and West Berlin for no apparent reason—since neither side wants war —unless to glare at the Communist troops on the other side.

And Wednesday Johnson reportedly recommended a buildup of U.S. military equipment in West Berlin although he was reported convinced that the situation there is extremely explosive with tension running so high a minor incident could touch off a major clash.

BERLIN BISHOP—Pope John XXIII has appointed Most Rev. Alfred Bengsch to be Bishop of Berlin. Rev. Bengsch, who lives in East Berlin, will be cut off from visits to West Berlin. He succeeds Julius Cardinal Doepfner, who becomes Archbishop of Munich.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Low-Calorie Fruit Salad Uses Yogurt

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Looking for an attractive late August dessert that is very low in calories? If so, you'll welcome this recipe.

It's a delicate peach gelatin mold made in advance with canned fruits and with yogurt instead of whipped cream. Contains only 133 calories per serving, as compared with 213 calories if made with heavy cream.

When serving the "creamy" mold, garnish with wedges of melon, bite-size chunks of fresh pineapple and clusters of grapes. Or else wedges of peaches, bananas, pears and apples dipped in lemon juice to prevent darkening, strawberries and other available fruits. Although no added dressing is needed, you may wish to offer a low-in-calories orange dressing for spooning over the fruits on individual plates.

Creamy Fruit Salad Mold
(Makes 6 servings)

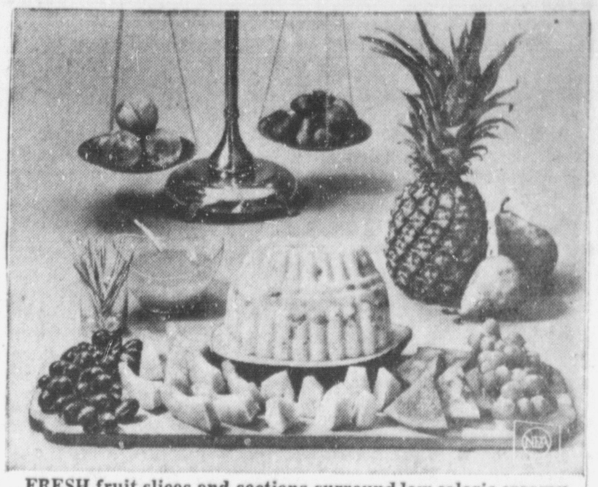

1 package peach gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup cold water
1 cup plain yogurt
1 cup drained fruit cocktail

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in cold water. Slowly stir into yogurt. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in drained fruit cocktail. Pour into 3-cup mold and chill until firm.

Low-Calorie Orange Dressing
(Makes about 1 cup)

¾ cup orange juice
¼ cup white vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon grated orange rind
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and shake or blend thoroughly. Serve with fruit salad.

Washington Prepares

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Washington has become the first state in the nation to start action on a food-rationing plan for a national emergency. The 750,000 heads of household in the state probably will register for the program the week of Nov. 6. Gov. Albert Rosellini ordered the registration.

The "Missouri Waltz" was made the official Missouri state song by the state legislature in 1949.

Resigns Traffic Post

CHICAGO (AP)—Leslie J. Sorenson, 63, credited with establishing the now familiar yellow-and-black traffic control signs, has resigned after serving 47 years as Chicago's traffic engineer.

U.S. in Middle Between France and Britain in Berlin

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst

BONN, (NEA)Who speaks for the West on Berlin?

The chief problem still facing the United States, Britain and France is agreement on a common policy by which their actions can be guided in their negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Ordinary Americans may be surprised to discover that such a policy does not already exist. Yet this is a fact that cannot be disguised by diplomatic double-talk.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, after his recent meeting of the Western Foreign Ministers in Paris, gave the impression of a harassed statesman who was being pulled in opposite directions by Britain and France.

Even though the Western powers agree that West Berlin must remain free, they still do not see eye-to-eye on concrete measures for the defense of the beleaguered city's freedom.

Britain does not favor "precipitate action" against East Germany for sealing the border between East and West Berlin. The Britons favor instead—as they always did—another East-West Summit meeting.

The British ambassador, it is reliably reported, is already negotiating for a Summit conference in Moscow.

However, French President Charles de Gaulle is dead set against negotiations with Moscow in the face of Khrushchev's threats and treaty violations.

As De Gaulle sees it, negotiations with the Russians under present conditions, will only result in Western concessions. This will undermine faith in NATO as a deterrent to Red aggression.

Relaxation in international tension, De Gaulle insists, must precede a Summit conference. It is unlikely to result from it.

The United States, the strongest power in the Western alliance, is merely trying to act as mediator between Britain and France. But despite President Kennedy's tough speeches, it does not lead boldly.

The President and Secretary of State Rusk no doubt are playing for time while they build up American military strength and negotiate the Anglo-French differences.

But meanwhile, Khrushchev is acting. He is presenting the Western powers with accomplished facts which will considerably weaken their bargaining position when they finally sit down to a Summit meeting—as they inevitably will—to negotiate on Berlin.

If one faces the truth squarely, he will find it difficult to swallow the attempts in some U. S. quarters to portray the closing of the border betwen East and West Berlin as a dramatic confession of Communist failure.

Europe's man-in-the-street sees the action of Moscow's East German puppet, Walter Ulbricht, as another victory for the Communists.

Even the West Berliners who, until recently, were convinced that the lights would never go out on the Kurfuerstendamm are beginning to need strong reassurance from the West as they watch Ulbricht tighten his stranglehold on Berlin.

For the present, the Reds still carefully emphasize that they will not interfere with West Berliners or Allied personnel crossing the boundary to and from East Berlin. Only East Berliners and East Germans are no longer permitted to travel between the two sectors of the city.

But East German experts on communism ask: if Ulbricht runs no risk when he violates a part of the West's treaties with Russia on Berlin, why should he not risk eventually sealing off West Berlin altogether?

This, as a matter of fact, has been Ulbricht's strategy since he first convinced Khrushchev to stir up the Berlin crisis: to persuade the Russians that the Allies will not defend Berlin and show the West that they could not hold it without recognizing the East German Communist regime.

In the view of the East German experts on communism, there was never any question of Red aggression taking the form of a frontal attack on Berlin.

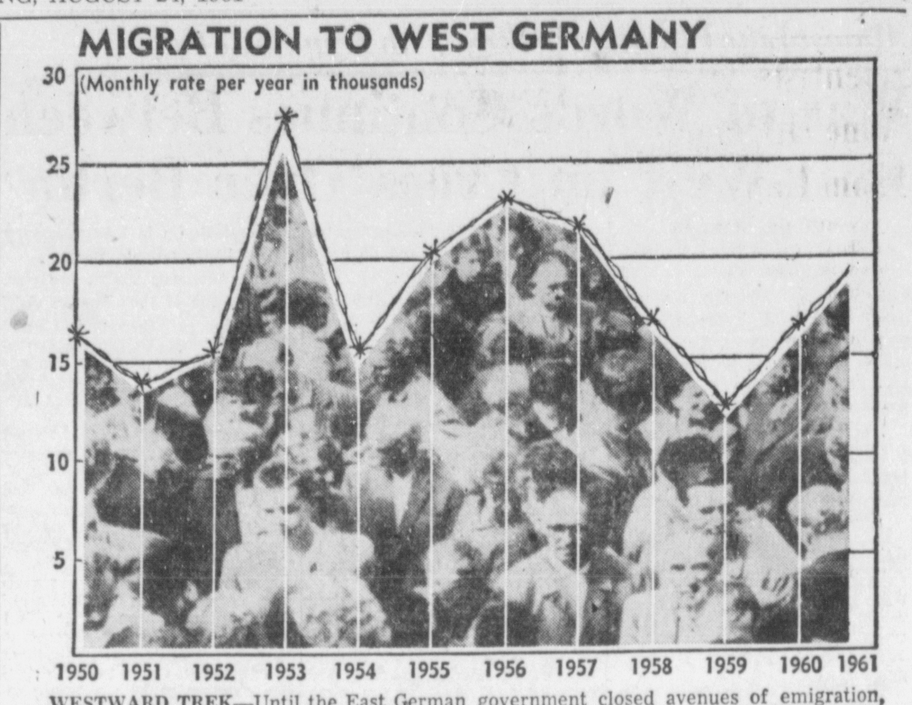

Communist strategy is to gain West Berlin through concessions at a Summit meeting — without war.

President Kennedy said in his television address that "We intend to have wider choice than humiliation or all-out nuclear war." But he has as yet to agree with Britain and France on what that choice is.

WESTWARD TREK—Until the East German government closed avenues of emigration, more than 150,000 refugees fled to West Germany in the first seven months of this year. Newschart, above, traces the rate of East to West refugee flow from 1950. High point was during time of abortive revolt in 1953. To date, about three million persons have crossed. West German government estimates 75,000 have migrated in the opposite direction in 1960 and this year.

Scientists See Some Dividends From Ranger 1

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Scientists counted some dividends from the Ranger I satellite today although it didn't probe as deep into space as intended.

The spacecraft, followed closely by the Agena "space platform" from which it was launched, is whipping around the globe every 91 minutes with a frustrated sun-sensing device.

The Agena—second stage on an Atlas-Agena booster rocket—was blasted into a so-called "parking orbit" Wednesday. It coasted through space until it reached a desired position from which to launch Ranger into a projected orbit reaching half a million miles into space.

But instead of firing for 1½ minutes as planned, the Agena ignited only briefly. This was just enough to separate Ranger from Agena, but not enough to increase its speed from 17,400 miles an hour to the necessary 23,800.

So the two vehicles, traveling close together, spun into near-earth orbits ranging from 105 to 312 miles above the earth.

Officials at first believed the test was a failure because Ranger was not relaying data as it sped far into space on a mission designed to study methods of launching future unmanned and manned vehicles to the moon and beyond.

But as telemetry data was analyzed, scientists reported the No. 1 Ranger experiment—an attitude stabilization system which seeks the sun—was performing perfectly under unexpected conditions.

The attitude stabilization system, being flight-tested for the first time, may be the key to guiding future space vehicles.

Eclipse of Moon, Almost Total, Is Due Friday Night

NEW YORK (AP)—Sky watchers will see an almost total eclipse of the moon Friday night—depending upon visibility.

More than 99 per cent of the moon's disk will pass through the earth's shadow, the American Museum - Hayden Planetarium said.

Astronomers at the planetarium said the eclipse could be visible from all parts of the United States, except the northwestern tip of Alaska.

It will start at 8:35 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, and the visible phase will end at 1:41 a.m.

Youth Gets Away With Taking Fire Engine

AZTEC, N.M. (AP)—While Fire Chief Bill Smith and his men investigated fire damage to a truck five miles east of Bloomfield, a youth drove off in the Aztec fire engine.

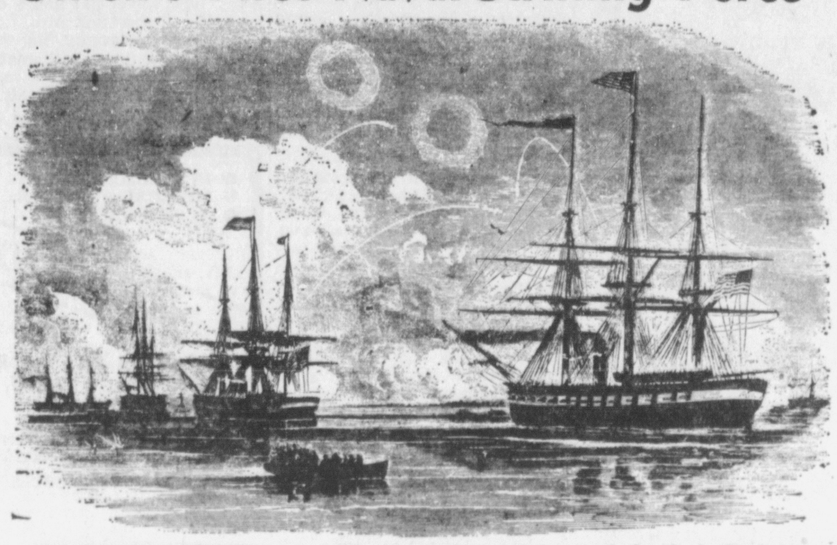

Smith gave chase in a fireman's car. When the truck was forced to stop, the youth hopped out and walked away. Smith was so surprised he forgot to get the boy's name.

Fletcherizing

The term "to Fletcherize" stems from Horace Fletcher, who advocated chewing food for a somewhat fanatical length of time. He had a wide following at the turn of the century.

CIVIL WAR ALBUM

Union's First Naval Striking Force

TO CUT THE CONFEDERACY off from the sea and provide facilities for Federal ships blockading the South Atlantic coast, the Union directed its first naval striking force against Forts Clark and Hatteras, which had been built to defend the Hatteras Inlet to the North Carolina sounds. The move was planned by a board of four experts which had studied the Confederacy's coasts and harbors at the request of the Federal Naval Dept. The inlet had come to the board's attention as a suitable initial striking point because the sounds provided a base for Confederate privateers attacking Northern shipping. So a Federal fleet of seven warships with 158 guns, two transports holding 900 troops, and a steam tug entered the inlet on Aug. 27, 1861. The fleet towed iron surfboats to land the troops under the command of Maj. Gen. Ben Butler in an amphibious operation. On Aug. 28, the fleet attacked and some 300 troops were landed. A steady stream of shells drove the Confederate garrison at Fort Clark to Fort Hatteras. The Union troops took possession of the evacuated fort. Meanwhile, several hundred Confederate reinforcements were added to the already overcrowded Fort Hatteras. The showdown came at that fort. On Aug. 29, the Federal fleet resumed its barrage and easily maneuvered away from the few shots fired from the fort in a one-sided battle. When a shell penetrated some supposedly bomb-proof protection, endangering the ammunition magazine, the Confederates ran up the white flag. Two Confederates were found dead and 13 were wounded among the 715 taken prisoner. The Union suffered only one casualty.

How Divided City Affects Salaried

BERLIN (AP) — About 12,500 West Berliners were drawing their pay from East Berlin two weeks ago, but between 1,500 and 2,000 have switched to jobs in West Berlin since Communist barricades went up across the divided city.

About 4,000 West Berliners still commute to the East each day—theatrical people, shop, office and factory workers.

Most of the others on Red payrolls are employes of the Communist-run railway system whose jobs are in stations and yards in the West. They rarely cross over to East Berlin except to collect pay checks.

The Communists created a labor shortage in West Berlin when they barred some 80,000 East Berliners from crossing the border to jobs on the Western side. But with a labor shortage of their own, the Reds made special arrangements for West Berliners who work in the East.

The daily commuters can cross over without special passes required of other West Berliners. They are subject only to the inconvenience of an identity check and an additional transfer on the subway or elevated trains.

Walter Ulbricht, East German Communist chief, has invited Westerners working in East Berlin to move there. But a Western official said he has yet to hear of anyone taking up the invitation.

Some 1,500 of the commuting workers are actors, singers and musicians in the Reds' heavily subsidized theaters and opera houses.

Many of the artists get special advantages from the Communists including part of their pay in hard Western currency.

Most of the daily commuters to East Berlin are shop, office or factory workers. After the war they found the sector border to be drawn arbitrarily between their homes and their work, and in the tough times just after the war they took both jobs and housing wherever they could find them.

The West Berlin city government helps them by changing some of their soft currency earnings into West marks at the unrealistic rate of one for one. The banks give only one West mark for five East marks.

Miss. to Attempt To Prove Riders Created Tension

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The State of Mississippi will try to prove today that "Freedom Riders" created dangerous racial tension here.

The defense was expected to counter that the riders had no such intention, and even if they had, there were enough officers to prevent a breach of the peace.

Prosecution witnesses in Hinds County Court testified Wednesday that there was fear of violence at transport terminals, but, under cross-examination, they admitted the riders did nothing to provoke trouble.

The testimony, before an all-white jury, was in the case of Henry Thomas, 19, Howard University student from St. Augustine, Fla. Thomas, a Negro, was arrested May 24 with the second bus load of riders from Montgomery, Ala. He was convicted the next day by a municipal judge on charges of breach of peace in that he disobeyed an officer's order to move out of the white section of a segregated waiting room.

He was one of about 180 freedom riders—Negroes and whites—who appealed their City Court convictions to County Court.

Fake Envoys Eat, Travel In Real Style

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three bogus African diplomats dined at elegant Miller Brothers Restaurant recently, then drove off in a limousine rented from a local funeral director.

Headwaiter Theodore Cook was told that the Negroes who entered the establishment Tuesday had just come from conferences with State Department officials in Washington.

A spokesman for the visitors told Cook that their leader, draped in the robes of a maharaja, was Sorfa Adiwba, finance minister of the new African nation of Gabon.

Adiwba and his companions, who wore diplomatic attire, sat down at a table, ate a light meal and left within half an hour of their arrival. A Negro photographer, waiting in the car, snapped the men's picture.

A check of the Gabon Embassy in Washington disclosed that the country's finance minister, Francois Meye, was home in Africa.

Later, Charles Eckardt of the A. T. Jones and Sons costume shop said a man who identified himself as Herbert Mangrum of the Afro-American (Negro) newspaper rented an African outfit Monday. The man asked that the newspaper be billed for the rental, Eckardt said.

The assistant managing editor of the Afro-American, James D. Williams, denied that Mangrum worked for the paper.

However, the Baltimore police said a press card had been issued in Mangrum's name.

Before starting on a vacation trip by car, take along several sleeves cut from old garments. Then if it is necessary for the driver to make emergency car repairs, it is easy to slip these on and hold them up with rubber bands to protect sleeves of coat or shirt.

Resume on Hopeful Note

Goldberg Is Happy Over Progress in 'Met' Opera Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations seeking to save the 1961-62 season of the Metropolitan Opera resume today on a hopeful note.

"The parties are moving," said federal mediator Jacob R. Mandelbaum after a meeting of negotiators for the opera and a union representing the 91 members of its orchestra.

Mandelbaum said Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, sparkplug of the renewed negotiations, was "happy" at the progress of the talks Wednesday. Mandelbaum had reported to Goldberg on the talks.

The opera had broken off contract talks with the union last Thursday and announced a 1961-62 season due to open in October, was no longer possible.

Negotiators met for 11 hours Wednesday.

The executive committee of Local 802 of the American Federation of Musicians meets today before the negotiation session—presumably to consider management offers.

The latest announced demand of the union was an increase in the basic weekly wage from $170 to $248. The union said it was willing to make concessions.

The latest announced offer by the Met management was continuance of the $170 wage for the 1961-62 season, with a $3 weekly wage increase in the second and third years of a three-year contract. The management said the wage increases plus welfare and fringe benefits would amount to a total package of 14 per cent.

The Met reported a deficit of $400,000 last year, and said that granting the union's demands would add $750,000 to this year's deficit. Most of last year's deficit was wiped out by contributions.

Final Concert Is Scheduled Sunday At West Point

West Point, N. Y.—Songs by two teams of Broadway composers—Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II; and Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe—will be featured on the final summer concert by the U. S. Military Academy Band this Sunday, Aug. 27. The program will be presented at 7 p. m. in the Trophy Point Amphitheatre. Major William H. Schempf will direct.

In the event of rain, the concert will be given at the same time in the West Point Army Theatre.

Soloists will be Rosemary Crawford, Virginia Love, Nicholas DiVirgilio, and Jerry Crawford, all graduates of the Eastman School of Music.

The public is invited to attend, free of charge.

Miss Crawford, making her second appearance with the Band, will sing selections from Camelot and The Sound of Music. Miss Love, a former Fulbright scholar, is currently a member of the Chamber Singers of the West German State Radio in Cologne. This group makes operatic tours and sings on radio and television.

From Lerner and Loewe's Brigadoon, Mr. DiVirgilio will sing Come to, Bend to Me. He has been a soloist with the Wheeling, West Virginia, Orchestra and with the Chautauqua Pops Orchestra. He also is a member of the Chautauqua Opera Association.

Mr. Crawford has performed with the Oratorio Society and in Opera under the Stars. He recently sang the part of Escamillo, the toreador, in the Highland Park production of Carmen, and has just signed to sing with the New York City Center Opera Company.

Lord's Acre Bazaar Scheduled Sept. 2 At Accord Church

The 13th annual Lord's Acre chicken barbecue and bazaar will be held at the historic Rochester Dutch Reformed Church, Accord, Saturday afternoon and evening, Sept. 2. Serving and sales will begin at 12 noon and continue through the early evening.

The barbecue will be prepared in an open pit in back of the church by William Anderson and his committee. The Ladies Aid Society under the direction of Mrs. Frankin Kelder, president, will serve.

Many items, including an oil painting by a local artist will be available at the bazaar.

Those assisting with booths are Christian Endeavor Society, Sunday school under the direction of Miss Sonya K. Anderson, superintendent; the Mmes. Michael Gates, Leslie Osterhoudt, Belle Kelder, Anah Davis, Jennie Osterhoudt and Clifford Schoonmaker.

Friday 2 to 5 p. m. the last food sale of the Lord's Acre project will be held at the Accord Firehouse. Mrs. Albert Barley is chairman.

Native Kingstonian Will Give Main Talk At Benedictine Commencement Exercises

REV. GEORGE W. MOORE

The graduating exercises of the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing will be held Sunday afternoon, August 27, St. Mary's Church at 4 p. m. Reverend George W. Moore will be the speaker.

Father Moore attended Kingston High School and Ohio State University in School of Science and Optometry. Enlisted in the U. S. Navy for two years serving in the United States and abroad.

Following his honorable discharge from the Navy, Father Moore began his education and training for the Catholic Priesthood. His pre-theological studies were taken at St. Vincent's Seminary in Latrobe, Pennsylvania, St. Jerome's Seminary in Kitchener, Canada and finally St. Joseph's Seminary in Dunwoodie, Yonkers, New York, to complete his studies for the priesthood.

Father Moore was ordained in St. Patrick's Cathedral May 25, 1955. He is a native of Kingston, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Moore of 385 Broadway, this city and is assistant pastor of Our Lady of the Assumption Church, Bronx.

Candidates for diplomas are Elaine Berinato, Honora Bradley, Catherine Cassidy, Jo Ann Kathleen Chase, Patricia Collier, Ann Cornish, Nona Debrosky, Alice Freer, Eileen Heins, Noreen Keane, Frances Keanna, Eleanor Lasher, Patricia McMonagle, Mary Miller, Elizabeth Moroney, Margaret O'Neil, Gloria Picariello, Rose Rahilly, Sueann Reynolds, and Mary Sullivan.

Class officers are Patricia Collier, president; Catherine M. Cassidy, secretary; Ann E. Cornish, treasurer.

Of Many Things

by DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

U. S. Government Robs Women!

Women are robbed daily—in broad daylight and quite legally! The villains are antiquated tax laws, inequitable pay, and lack of opportunity for women to use their skills to full advantage. Suffragettes won many things for women but financial equality was not among them.

In September GLAMOUR, Mrs. Esther Peterson, Director of the U. S. Labor Department's Women's Bureau, points out, "although women are no longer an abused minority, new attitudes must be encouraged about the problems of working women."

Neither Mrs. Peterson, nor the Editors of GLAMOUR, champion revolt among women—nor do they demand total equality for their sex. But they do champion a realistic understanding of women's financial needs today including fair tax legislation for working women and a reappraisal of domestic service.

Today's working women are taxed on their total income yet spend 40 per cent of it on job-related expenses: domestic help, lunch, cosmetics, bus fares and extra clothes. None of these are tax deductable. A man can deduct certain business expenses but a woman may not deduct child care costs unless she and her husband earn less than $4500. To add insult to injury she must pay 3 per cent social security tax on her domestic's wages. Business can deduct this as a legitimate expense but, in the case of the working woman, the Internal Revenue Service says this is a personal—not business—expense.

If we believe in an expanding economy, Mrs. Peterson states, we must encourage, not discourage women from working. Working women create jobs for everyone through increased needs for goods and services; they put 70 per cent of their income back into circulation immediately; many have skills that are specifically needed—teaching, nursing, secretarial. It is only just that women should get an even break. The increased minimum wage scale helps some but still does not cover domestic helpers and laundresses—so vital to working women.

Women, too, must do their part if they want to work. They must train domestic assistants and be willing to give them good wages and dignity. We should take a lesson from Sweden, Mrs. Peterson says, where they use the talents of mature women thus freeing someone else for a job beyond the home. These women have professional standing. They have earned a diploma and a uniform, and the respect of their communities.

Women can have equality if they are willing to work for it. Leaving it to the men to do for them simply won't work.

Student Council Training Institute At Paltz College

Nearly 125 students representing over 75 high schools throughout the state, arrived on the campus of the State University College of Education, New Paltz, Tuesday, Aug. 22 for a five-day Student Council Leadership Training Institute.

Under the direction of Robert C. Davidson, assistant to the president of the college, the institute is sponsored by the college at New Paltz and the New York State Association of Student Councils. These students will be officers in their respective school Student Councils during the coming year.

Among the speakers will be Dr. Nathan Stillman, director of the Child Study Center at New Paltz; Dr. John Brereton, executive secretary of the NYSASC; Dr. Jack Yuthas, dean of students at the college; Dr. Alfred B. Rollins, professor of history at the college, the Rev. Gerret J. Wullschleger of the Reformed Church in New Paltz; Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the college; Frank Bugar, principal of the Poughkeepsie High School; and Merrell Lewis, principal of the Fayetteville-Manlius Central School.

The students were welcomed to the Campus, Tuesday, by Dr. Robert W. Pyle, dean of the college, and a program for the week included numerous sessions and group meetings dealing with various phases of student leadership. Also on the agenda was an extensive program of recreation, including a day at the college camp near Ashokan Reservoir.

The institute will adjourn Saturday morning.

Very Pale Gray Is Safe Shade for Walls

List the colors to be used in your room before you decide on a new paint color. If you have several colors in your furnishings, the paler more unobtrusive shade is best for your walls. You cannot go wrong on a very pale gray. You will never tire of it. It is a soft unobtrusive background for gay chintzes and curtains. If you are doing over a room completely, try two or three shades of beige with a soft pinkish beige on the walls. Pale beige carpets and bleached wood furniture will harmonize well with this type of decor. Include a few accents of a vivid color. Use white or pale pink flowers in tall vases.

A NEIGHBOR'S LATE PARTIES

Q. Several months ago new neighbors moved into the apartment next to ours. They are forever giving parties and these parties go on far into the night. As the walls between the apartments are very thin we can hear the singing and laughing of the guests. This is very disturbing and keeps us from getting to sleep. Will you please tell me how we can tactfully handle this situation without causing unpleasantness?

A. On a night when the noise is especially loud you could go over and say, "I'm very sorry to interrupt you, but could you be a little more quiet? My husband has to get up very early in the morning and the noise is keeping him awake."

Widow's Name and Wedding Ring

Q. I was happily married 14 years when my husband died very suddenly. I loved my husband dearly and his death was a great shock to me. Now to add to my distress, a friend tells me that I have to give up his name and also discontinue wearing my wedding ring since I am no longer married. Will you please tell me if she is right?

A. No, she is not right. You certainly have the right to his name—meaning you call yourself Mrs. John not Mrs. Mary—for so long as you remain a widow. And the wedding ring is also yours to wear for life—or until you remarry.

Putting Up the Bridegroom's Family

Q. My daughter is marrying a man from another state. His parents are coming here for the wedding. As we live in a small apartment it will be impossible for us to put them up. Is it up to us to make the reservations for them at the hotel and also pay the hotel bill? Will you please tell us what is customary under these circumstances?

A. If the bride's family are well-to-do, they may take a number of rooms in a nearby hotel for the bridegroom's family. If they are of moderate means, the groom's family are expected to pay thir own expenses.

Miss Joyce Kirk Is Bride of J. Loiacano At Phoenicia Church

PHOENICIA—Saturday, Aug. 19 at 4 p. m. Miss Joyce Kirk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirk was married to John Loiacano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nikolas Loiacano of Bushnellville, in St. Francis de Sales Church. The Rev. John Gorman, MS, performed the double ring ceremony. The church was decorated with vases of gladioli.

The bride was attired in an ankle length white nylon gown, with Chantilly lace bodice, sabrina neckline, trimmed with rhinestones, and cap sleeves. She wore long lace mitts. Her illusion veil was held by a rhinestone princess crown. She carried a sheaf of white gladioli on a white missal. Mr. Kirk gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. Harry Miller played traditional wedding music

Mrs. Kirk, mother of the bride, wore a blue printed crepe dress, blue velvet hat and a corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Loiacano wore a heavenly blue brocaded taffeta dress with matching lace trim, white accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

A reception for 150 guests was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loiacano in Bushnellville.

The bride is a graduate of Onteora Central School. They will live in Shandaken upon their return from a wedding trip.

Dutch Guild Will Sponsor Autumn House Tour Here

Plans have been formulated for an Autumn House Tour to be held on Sunday, Sept. 24, from 2 to 6 p. m., Mrs. Henry Millonig, president of the Women's Guild, announced today.

There are seven houses to be opened to guests. Four of the houses date back to the 18th century. Three of the treasured old stone houses of the area will be included in this group.

The committee includes Mrs. Herbert Johnson, chairman; Mrs. William Hobbs, Mrs. Jansen Fowler, Mrs. Harry Rigby, Mrs. William Hilton and Mrs. Karl Pitcock. Flower arrangements, in the homes, will be under the direction of Herbert Cutler. Hosts and hostesses will be on hand to answer questions and provide additional pertinent information.

Proceeds from the tour will be used to further the work of the Old Dutch Guild, in the church and the community. Tickets may be purchased, in advance, from any of the committee members or at the various homes the day of the tour.

Home Extension Service News

Starting September 8, Ulster County homemakers will be able to take part in a special Home Demonstration Sewing Project—by way of their own TV sets. The six-lesson program entitled "Sew For Growth" will be presented over WRGB-TV. Each lesson will start at 9:30 a. m on Sept. 8, 15, 22, 26 and 29.

Cornell University Professors, Mrs. Madeline Blum and Miss Adeline Snellman, will show how to make a little girl's dress that grows with the child. Mothers and grandmothers, and other, will learn that this dress can be altered without altering a seam and lengthened without touching the hem. Commercial patterns have been developed for little girls with waistlines measuring from 20 to 22 inches and chests of from 21 to 24 inches.

These programs were filmed at the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell University. Miss Patricia Dorn, Assistant Home Demonstratio Agent in Scheneltady County, will also appear each week.

Homemakers who enroll in the program will receive a special "Sew For Growth" packet prepared by the TV professors. The following publications are included in it: "Sew For Growth Lesson Guide"; "Pattern Selection For Children"; "Collars and Cuffs"; "Sleeves"; "What Clothing Means to Your Child"; "Buying by Size, Not Age"; and "Wash and Wear".

This packet contains more information than can be included in the program, and will be valuable reference material for future sewing .

Paint Porch Floors

For cement porch floors, an alkali-resistant primer is recommended. Also suitable for concrete floors are porch and deck enamels and the rubber-base coatings. Before these are applied, hard and glossy concrete should be roughened with a weak solution of muriatic acid. When you are obtaining your materials, it's wise to discuss the condition of your porch floor with your paint dealer. He can advise you regarding methods of preparation and application.

Trim Lines for Autumn on Campus

There's a trim look to college clothes this fall. It's achieved with lines like these (left). Blue-and-brown plaid flannel is used for three-piece costume which includes beige blouse. Corduroy suit (right) has jacket with cowl collar. These are Turner Togs fashions.

How to Keep Noise Out of Your House

If noise permeates your house, install acoustical tiles on ceilings of the noisemaking rooms—generally playroom and kitchen. This tile with its many colors not only dulls the roar, but adds to the decor of rooms. Some are completely and permanently washable.

In addition to color, tiles come in a wide variety of textures—striated, stippled and perforated. Patterns can be developed; a checkerboard design is made by alternating the direction of the tiles.

'Little Venice'

18 Compete Friday For Queen of Fair

Eighteen beautiful girls will compete Friday for the title of Queen of the 1961 New York State Fair in Syracuse.

The state-wide finals to find a successor to Miss Joan Lee Anderson, 1960 Queen, will be held at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Buffalo.

The nine-day Fair opens Friday, Sept. 1, and the new queen will act as the state's official hostess in greeting the more than 500,000 people who are expected to attend the Exposition.

In addition, the girl selected Queen of the 1961 State Fair will also act as official escort for Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller on "Governor's Day" at the Fair, Wednesday, Sept. 6.

This evening, the candidates will be honored at a formal banquet at Statler-Hilton Hotel, and Friday morning they will face a battery of four judges, whose unenviable task it will be to select one winner and two runners-up.

The two girls chosen as runners-up will also participate in opening day activities at the Fair.

The new Queen will receive from the State Fair her official gown and a $400 scholarship to a school of her choice, or $400 cash.

Those vying for the title are: Barbara Anne Butcher, Broome County Fair Queen; Faye McClosky, Miss Cohoes Newsweekly; Karen Ann Merritt, Miss Delaware County and Donna Morith, Miss Genesee County Fair Queen.

Also, Marjorie Tucker, Herkimer County Fair Queen; Kathleen Ann Radigan, Jefferson County Fair Queen; Mary Lou Fitz-Gerald, Miss Lewis County; Sharon Gardner, Miss Lyons; Carol Ann Schnaus, Miss Palmyra Fair; Margaret Bruening, Monroe County Harvest Queen; Sharon Madeline Branigan, Miss Syracuse; Joyce A. Walker, Miss Tioga County Fair; Marsha Johnson, Tompkins County Fair Queen; Shirley M. Payne, Miss WBRV — Lowville; Nancy B. Self, Miss WGY-WRGB—Schenectady; Sandra Owen, Miss Southern Tier, and Olene Hall, Miss WEBR—Buffalo; and a candidate from Oneida County.

Dedication Rite Slated on Sunday At Agudas Achim

Plans are nearing completion for the dedication of a Scroll of the Torah at Congregation Agudas Achim, 24 West Union Street, Sunday 3 p. m.

The ancient ritual will be preceded by a procession with the Scroll at 2 p. m. Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport and Cantor Herman Slomovits will officiate at the ceremony. Joseph Epstein and Morris Miller are co-chairmen.

The public may attend the procession and ceremony. Refreshments will be served.

Use your gravy ladle when filling muffin pan cups with batter for muffins or cup cakes. Usually one scoop is just enough to fill the cup right.

Quick dessert: Roll cookie dough very thin, form over inverted muffin tins and bake. Fill cookie cups with fresh or frozen fruits and top with whipped cream.

Eisner Exhibit Draws Audiences

The show of paintings at the Artcraft Gallery, 694 Broadway, by Florine Rensie and William Eisner continues to draw an enthusiastic audience.

The opening reception attracted 150 out of town guests with many from Kingston in attendance.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Eisner are artists of note and have been associated with cultural groups in this area for many years.

They both paint in a representational style, yet with an inclination toward abstraction with an emphasis on good design.

They have included in the show some of their award winning paintings — among them, Florine Rensie's "Sunflower" with an honorable mention—Atwood Klinger Prize, N.A.W.A. 1959; "Chess Players" from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Laufman; also a Landscape that was shown this year in the Regional Exhibition at the Albany Institute of History and Art; "Interior and Model" by Mr. Eisner with an Honorable Mention from the Civic Center in New York City; and a Still Life from the private collection of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Laufman.

Their two daughters are artists in their own right, having exhibited extensively.

Mr. Eisner is a well known industrialist and was the first manufacturer of waxed paper in the United States. For many years he was president of the Newark Paraffine and Parchment Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisner are two of the warmest and most colorful art spirits of this area and attract friends with their unquenchable love of life which carries over into their paintings.

The public is invited to see this show, which will hang through the Labor Day weekend.

Lighten Dark Room

Nowadays many apartments have a window only in one end. Even though it may be a large picture window, the opposite end of the room is sure to be shadowy. One of the best corrections for that is to paint the walls and ceiling a light color and upholster or slip-cover the furniture in light gay colors.

Television Gets Its Heroes From Athletic Fields

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Want to break into television? Want to be a glamorous star with a sports car and a swimming pool?

Then go to college, but don't bother studying. Just make a varsity football or basketball team. Or, if your grades aren't good enough, go out and make a major league baseball team.

Television, preoccupied with action, needs tall, muscular, lean and expressionless heroes. They are more likely to be found on the playing fields of the nation than in little theaters or professional schools.

In the old days of the movies, when the big box-office stars were women, talent scouts spent their time haunting one Hollywood drugstore and the drive-ins where beauties were slinging hamburgers.

Ignore Jockeys

Today talent scouts are more familiar with stadiums. Just about the only spectator sport they ignore is horse-racing because jockeys are much too short to become fast guns or private eyes.

The demand for the tall, athletic young man to play the star's sidekick is so acute in casting circles that one University of California basketball star, Scott Miller, was approached by five different TV actors' agents in one day. Of course, he happened to be moving furniture—a summer job—from one office building occupied mainly by booking agencies to another similarly occupied. Miller now has a regular part in "Wagon Train," so he may never go back to college.

Connors Best Known

Chuck Connors of "The Rifleman" is probably the best known graduate athlete in TV—moving into acting from first base on the Los Angeles Angels, then a minor league team.

Gary Lockwood—then Gary Yurosek—played football at the University of California at Los Angeles. John Berardino of "The New Breed" was second baseman for the Cleveland Indians and he played professional baseball for 14 years.

Larry Pennell, star of "Rip Cord," was a pro baseball player.

Among the alumni of various football teams are Gary Lockwood, Bill Leeka and Frank Gifford, now actors in considerable demand.

Making instant actors out of athletes has become so commonplace, and its implications about acting ability so obvious, that Jack Ging, now a costar of "Tales of Wells Fargo," would like to ignore his background.

"I wish you'd just skip all that stuff," said Ging with unconcealed annoyance. "I wanted to be an actor and I studied to be one."

Rifle Team Member

Pfc. Arthur R. Nersesian Jr., whose parents live on Chove Valley Road, High Falls, is a member of the All-Army Rifle Team which is competing in the national rifle and pistol matches, which are being conducted at Camp Perry, Ohio, until Aug. 27.

Nersesian and other members of the team are competing for individual and team honors in two separate matches, the NRA National High Power Service Rifle Championship and the NRA National High Power Bolt Rifle Championship. Nersesian is firing at ranges of 200 to 600 yards, in various positions and in both slow and rapid fire.

Each year Camp Perry is the site of what shooters refer to as the World Series of Marksmanship. More than 7,500 military and civilian marksmen are competing in this year's national matches at the world's largest rifle and pistol range.

Nersesian, regularly assigned as an ammunition specialist in the 576th Ordnance Company at Fort Lewis, Wash., entered the Army in September 1958.

The 21-year-old soldier attended Kingston High School.

Funny Bunny

MALONE, N. Y. (AP) —There was something funny about that bunny.

That's what judges at the Franklin County fair thought as 12-year-old Robert Burns' prize white rabbit was disqualified from the "best senior male" contest.

The rabbit, named Mr. Franklin County of Rabbitdom last year, gave birth to a litter of 12 at this year's fair.

Diabetes Clinic Slated For N. Y. State Fair

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Health Department said today it would conduct a diabetes-detection clinic at the New York State Fair next month.

"The test of diabetes is simple," Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe Jr., health commissioner said. It can be done in minutes and persons will be notified of the results in a few days, he said.

Hilleboe said more than 3,000 persons died of diabetes last year in the state.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Just about every appetite can be satisfied with the wide variety of weekend specials offered by supermarkets and neighborhood stores this week.

Beef-lovers can pick from round and chuck pot roasts, rib ends, and round, sirloin and porterhouse steaks. Also featured are corned beef, ground beef and liver.

Prices of rib roasts were down from last week in most areas while sirloin steak was up except in the New York metropolitan area where it was off 10 cents a pound.

Fryers and chicken parts dominate the fowl department.

Congress Is Asked To Approve More For Basin Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four states today asked Congress to approve an interstate compact—with the federal government as a partner — for development of Delaware River Basin water resources.

Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania was scheduled to make a personal plea and representatives of the governors of New Jersey, New York and Delaware were to join in urging Senate committee approval of a bill setting up a compact.

The House already has approved the plan.

Regarded as the last obstacle to final approval of the program was the question of preference for public power projects that could arise in the Delaware River development plan. That plan would provide not only for flood control, recreation, and water supply but also for possible power development in the Delaware Basin.

In testimony prepared for a Senate public works subcommittee, Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said development of Delaware Valley water resources is "too important to be put off longer."

Woman Who Served State 42 Years Dies

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —Miss Loretta R. McGoldrick who had served under eight governors as an employe in the executive chamber, died Wednesday at St. Peter's Hospital after a lengthy illness.

Miss McGoldrick, a native of Albany, had been head clerk from 1945 until her retirement May 17.

During her 42 years with the state, she served in the administrations of Govs. Alfred E. Smith, Nathan L. Miller, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Herbert H. Lehman, Charles Poletti, Thomas E. Dewey, W. Averell Harriman and Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Corning Gas Corp. To Absorb Southport Co.

ALEANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Corning Natural Gas Corp. will absorb Southport Gas Co. Inc., one of its customers.

Corning Natural Gas will exchange 2,000 shares of its common stock for shares of the Southport Company.

Corning Natural Gas Corp. serves 9,850 customers in Steuben and Chemung counties.

The PSC said there would be no changes in Southport rates.

Kelso in Sculpture

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Richard C. DuPont was presented a sculptured mahogany statue of Kelso, last year's horse of the year, during the racing program at Saratoga Wednesday. The presentation to Kelso's owner was made by John McCabe, one of the Saratoga trustees.

Firemen's Assn. Favors Classes in Public Schools

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The State Firemen's Association has passed a resolution favoring continuation of weekly 15-minute fire prevention classes in the state's public schools.

The volunteer firemen's group Wednesday also condemned the use of sirens other than in emergencies at its 89th annual convention.

Several thousand delegates represent more than 200,000 volunteer firemen. The six-day meeting concludes Friday.

Education Is Big Business Today, Soper Tells Lions

Education is big business today, according to Dr. Earl F. Soper, superintendent of the Kingston School District, (Consolidated). Speaking before this week's luncheon meeting of the Kingston Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Dr. Soper said that "our forefathers left education as a state function; today the local control issue is paramount."

Pointing up the extensive program that is underway for Kingston Consolidated schools, Dr. Soper said that this year's expenditures total $5.7 million. A professional staff of over 400 persons is required to operate the school system.

In speaking of the modernization program under way, Dr. Soper said that $6,000,000 worth of schools is now under construction in the consolidated school district of Kingston. These include four schools nearing completion in Port Ewen, Hurley, Tillson and Lake Katrine. He said that a total of a quarter of a million dollars is being spent on sprinklers and smoke detection devices so that each school will have this equipment.

At this week's meeting President Stephen McGrath acknowledged a letter of thanks from Dr. Elbert L. MacFadden, chairman of the Kingston Cerebral Palsy Unit for the donation of $250 from the Lions Club. Appreciation was also acknowledged for WBAZ for its efforts toward a successful block party run in conjunction with the Lions Sight Conservation committee. The program netted $161.00 which was turned over to the Sight Conservation Fund.

Three Are Injured In Rt. 28 Mishap

Three residents of Fleischmanns, injured in a highway mishap early today on Route 28, Shokan, were treated at Benedictine Hospital and released, Kingston state police reported.

State police identified the injured as Harold Edward Taylor, 21, the driver, lacerations of the back and left hand; Jane Taylor, 22, lacerations of the left thigh, abrasions of both legs, superficial lacerations and contusions of the mouth, and Daniel Moran, 30, bruises and contusions of both legs and lacerations of the neck.

Trooper Richard Ryan said the 1959 Taylor sedan was proceeding east on Route 28 about 200 feet west of Winchell Corners in the Town of Olive, and when the driver fell asleep, the car went out of control crossing the highway, went off the north shoulder, over an embankment and struck several trees. The car was completely demolished, troopers said.

All three were reportedly on their way to work at Channel Master Corp., Ellenville when the mishap occurred at 6:30 a. m. Investigating the accident with Trooper Ryan were Deputies Jack Seaholm and John Daly of Ulster County Sheriffs Office.

"The Danny Thomas Show," with the comedian and his TV "family," starts its 9th season on October 2--and there will be no 10th, says Danny. He insists he's giving up his weekly CBS-TV series after the 1961-62 season. But he expects to make an occasional TV appearance and perhaps make a movie.

Cook several extra strips of bacon at breakfast time and refrigerate. For lunch or supper next day crumble the bacon and add it to cooked rice to be served with the main course.

Olive Fireman Is Hurt in Mishap On Way to Blaze

Carl Muller Jr., 26, member of the Olive Fire Department, was injured Wednesday afternoon while responding to a fire in a cottage at Watson Hollow Inn, occupied by the help.

Muller suffered an injury to the head when the brakes on his car failed on a turn and the car skidded, spun around and the rear struck a utility pole. The car then went down a bank. The accident happened on the West Shokan-Watson Hollow Road. Muller was brought to Benedictine Hospital where today his condition was reported as "fair."

The accident was investigated by Trooper Henry Rhodes and Constable Walter Lang notified the sheriff's office and requested an escort through the city to the hospital. Deputy Sheriff Peter Peterson was assigned by Sheriff Claude Bell.

Ulster County Fire Control Center was notified of the fire at 6:42 p. m. and reported the equipment secured at 7:08 p. m.

When firemen under the direction of Chief Robert Johansen, Olive Fire Company, No. 3, responded they found a small fire near the floor in a small cottage occupied by help at the Inn. Cause of the fire was undetermined. Damage was slight.

An acre-foot is the measurement used to cover an acre of ground with one foot of water — about 325,000 gallons.

Costello Fires 3-Under-Par 69 in Jaycee International

Pulls Himself Among Leaders In Denver Play

William (Buzzy) Costello of Wiltwyck Country Club fired a sizzling 3-under-par 69 in Denver, Colorado, Wednesday to move among the leaders in the International Jaycee Golf Tournament.

Costello toured the par-72 Wellshire Municipal layout in 34-35-69 for a 36-hole total of 144 at the halfway mark. He was six strokes off the pace.

Ricky Barthel snapped back with 37-38-75 Wednesday after an opening round 85 for a 160.

A blazing putter enabled Costello to score four birdies and an eagle, but three lapses cost him a chance to score in even more sensational fashion.

On the 480-yard par-5 fifth hole, Costello planted an iron shot 2 feet from the pin. The four birdies were the result of fine putting, ranging from a 2 footer to a 20-footer on No. 16.

Bogies Eighteenth

Buzzy bogied Nos. 4 and 9 where he missed short putts and also bogied 18 where he three-putted.

Jay Sigel of Philadelphia, who fired a 65 opening day, had a one-under-par 71 to lead the 126 player field with 136. Sigel is the 1960 Pennsylvania State amateur champion.

Runnerup with 68-70-138 is Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur, Texas, the Texas State Jaycee champion for three straight years. Fleckman finished third in the 1960 Jaycee International.

Howard Derrick of Amsterdam, who had 71 opening day was not listed among the top 20 scorers.

Golfdom's Aces In $50,000 Open

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Golfdom's top professionals will start hammering away at the Firestone Country Club's top par-70 layout today in a bid for prizes totaling $50,000.

Missing from the field of 97 starters in the American Golf Classic, however, will be Tommy Bolt, the one with the terrible temper. Bolt was given a retroactive 30-day suspension Wednesday which will keep him off the tournament trail until the end of the month.

The Professional Golfers Association Appeals Committee administered the rather mild penalty for his use of profanity during the PGA Tournament in Chicago last month.

The Firestone course, which totals 7,165 yards, is the same layout where Jay Herbert captured the 1960 PGA title with a 72-hole score of 281—one over par.

All the champions will be competing in the tournament. The group includes U.S. Open winner Gene Littler, Master's champion Gary Player, PGA titlist Jerry Barber and British Open king Arnold Palmer.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

A man stays in sports long enough and something like the Dietz Stadium fiasco of Tuesday night is bound to happen.

Old Satchmo Paige's failure to keep an appointment with the Kingston Braves was a bitter disappointment to some 500 persons, particularly the small fry, hero worshippers.

But while Davi and Kansas City Monarchs were making a series of frantic telephone calls to the Metropolitan area, old Satch couldn't have cared less. Or so it seems.

The night before, as Jake Chichelski reports, Paige had taken a powder from Howard Cosell's TV sports show on Channel 7. Cosell told his audience that The Old One was suffering from a "slight cold and fever."

If Paige couldn't make the Kingston trip, he at least owed the Kingston management the courtesy of a telephone call. But he didn't and a chunk was chipped off the legend of Old Man River.

Satchel Paige was one of those rare mortals who became a legend in his own time (TV's Bat Masterson was another, says the commercial) but in Kingston he will be remembered as the guy who disappointed more than 500 fans. And in these days, that's a lot of fans to disappoint.

• On Solid Grounds:

We heartily concur in Fred Davi's refusal to pay the Monarchs the remainder of their guarantee, which was 60 per cent of the net gate. We doubt whether he'll ever recoup the $100 advance he made when the original contract was signed on June 28 with Randie Brown, general manager of the Negro American League team. Chasing barnstorming baseball teams around the country can be a disheartening thing.

This wasn't the first time it's happened at Dietz Stadium. In the pre-war period, when the Kingston Recs were at the peak in playing and drawing power, we booked a game with then highly reliable Brooklyn Royal Giants. But they encountered motor trouble in Connecticut (or so they said) and never made it to Kingston, while better than 3,000 fans sat on their hands and waited.

Davi's frustration and anger is understandable. He is already making plans for a giant post-World Series extravaganza in which Roger Maris, Bob Cerv and Joey Jay would appear. He would naturally be concerned about the adverse publicity on the Paige episode.

However, in all fairness, let us interject a personal note. We saw the original contract, signed by the Monarchs and it definitely stipulated an appearance by Paige. Davi cannot be held responsible for shameful failure of a pro like Satchel Paige to keep an appointment.

• It Was Just a Footnote . . . But

There was an item buried in the dot and dashes department of a metropolitan gazette story on the New York Titans' search for a long range punter. It related how in desperation the Titans had hauled old 40-year-old Horace Gillom (remember him?) out of retirement. Old Horace, who could kick them a mile with the fabulous Cleveland Browns of Otto Graham, Marion Motley, et all averaged a mere 37.1 yards in three exhibition kicks. The search continues, the item said. And this mind you is the same Titan team that gave Gene Massa of Kingston a complete runaround and brushoff at Bear Mountain. Just what does it take to get into the lodge?

Mrs. O'Reilly Wins Tourney

Mrs. Edwin O'Reilly finished even with par to win the weekly Ladies Day competition at The Twaalfskill Club.

She carded a 52 gross and had 12 handicap in the match play against par tournament. Runnerup was Mrs. George Chilson, who finished minus 1 with 43-9.

Sharing a three-way tie with minus 2 were Mrs. Edward Minasian, 50-10; Mrs. George Rusk, 46-9; and Mrs. Albert Flanagan 53-15.

Leveling Off Period

No Great Increase Predicted In Number of Tenpin Leagues

September brings not only the closing of the baseball season and the start of the football schedule upon us but also the booming sport of bowling.

Between Labor Day and the following week most of the leagues in each bowling establishment will be started. The boom generally lasts until the latter part of May and sometime right into June.

Locally, John Ferraro and John "Red" Sangi are looking forward to the start of the season. With the State Women's Bowling tournament scheduled here during 1962, weekend leagues at both houses will be curtailed to between 26 and 28 weeks. Otherwise, most of the leagues will bowl 35 week or more schedules.

John Ferraro has organized a five-man invitation classic league, comprised of all keglers in the Kingston area with an average of 180 or better. The league will bowl each Thursday at 9:15 and keglers will be fully uniformed with both trousers and shirt. There are ten teams in the league.

Makes Changes

The veteran proprietor has a new snack bar this year as well as a promenade, tables and chairs behind the benches and a new counter. He expects business at his 40 lane establishment to be about the same as last year. "Bowling has reached a leveling off period," Ferraro said. A feature at the Bowlerama this year will be weekly clinics for men and women as well as children.

John "Red" Sangi, the proprietor of the Bowlero, had his alleys resurfaced as they are every two years. He will have a room added to his building and it will be used for the city tournament. Otherwise, everything is status quo.

He expects about the same business as last year with most of his leagues except for those on the Friday to Sunday weekend running about 35 weeks.

Highlight of the local season will be the women's tournament with the team event sceduled for the Bowlero and the singles and doubles slated at the Bowlerama. The tourney gets underway on March 23.

Pitching Is About the Same; Fences Farther in Babe's Day

By JOE REICHLER and BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writers

NEW YORK (AP)—Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle have the advantage of friendlier parks in their twin assault on Babe Ruth's home run record, but they are hitting against pitchers as formidable as those in the Bambino's record-breaking season of 1927.

Ruth slammed a majority of his 60 home runs off mediocre pitchers. The outstanding American League hurlers of 1927, such as Lefty Grove, Ted Lyons, Bump Hadley and Willis Hudlin, were stingy with Ruthian run drives.

Mantle and Maris also have been fattening up on second rate pitchers. Such stalwarts as Frank Lary, Jim Bunning and Don Mossi of Detroit; Don Schwall of Boston; Chuck Estrada, Skinny Brown and Milt Pappas of Baltimore; Jim Grant and Barry Latman of Cleveland, and Camilo Pascual and Jack Kralick of Minnesota have more than held their own with New York's M and M boys.

Maris has feasted on such as Washington's Pete Burnside (3), Los Angeles' Eli Grba (2), Boston's Gene Conley (2), and Chicago's Russ Kemmerer (2) and Cal McLish (2). Mantle's "cousins" have included Grba (2) Pedro Ramos of Minnesota (2) and [illegible]ias (2), formerly of Washington.

Parks Easier Now

Among Ruth's 60 were four homers each off Milt Gaston of St. Louis and Rube Walberg of Philadelphia; three each off Hollis Thurston of Washington and Tom Zachary of St. Louis and Washington, Slim Harris and Tony Welzer of Boston, Tommy Thomas of Chicago; Ken Holloway of Detroit and Joe Shaute of Cleveland. Of these only Walberg and Thomas were top-flight pitchers that year.

Ruth's home runs had to go a longer way. The American League stadiums in 1927 were larger than they are today. Yankee Stadium's right field home run sector, where all three sluggers hit many of their home runs was reduced by some 30 feet in 1936 with the extension of the stands. Ruth was left-handed, like Maris. Mantle is a switch-hitter.

In the right center and center sectors of other parks, Washington's Griffith Stadium is now 25 feet closer, Boston has a 45-foot shorter range, Chicago 25 feet, Cleveland 60, Detroit 25. Kansas City is 45 feet shorter than Philadelphia in right center and Baltimore is 25 nearer than St. Louis.

Ruth walked 138 times and struck out 89 times in 1927. Maris has 75 bases on balls and 52 strikeouts this season while Mantle has walked 103 times and fanned 87. All figures are complete through Wednesday night's games.

Batavia Hurler Strikes Out 20

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batavia righthander Steve Blass struck out 20 Wednesday night to save the nightcap of a doubleheader for the Pirates, who are fast fading out of the New York-Penn League pennant chase.

Blass's 6-2 victory over Olean was his 15th triumph of the year against six defeats. Olean took the opener, 10-8.

Geneva, meanwhile, moved to a nine-game advantage with 13 games to play by dumping Jamestown, 8-7.

Elsewhere in the league, Elmira stunned Erie twice, 5-3, and 6-5.

Frisco Homers Wreck Redlegs

Maris Misses 51st by a Foot

Blast Five In Ninth Inning To Tie Record

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

They may have a long way to go to match that little miracle of 1951, but if you don't think the San Francisco Giants are hot, then you've got to admit there are a couple of awfully cold clubs stumbling along on top in the National League pennant race.

The Giants were resting third, 10 games out of first less than three weeks ago. They still are third but they've won 13 of their last 15 games and have jumped within four games of first-place Cincinnati with a six-game streak—all against the Reds and second-place Los Angeles Dodgers.

After sweeping three from the Dodgers, the Giants made it three in a row over Cincinnati Wednesday night, riding in on the three-hit pitching of Juan Marichal and unloading five home runs in a record 12-run ninth inning for a 14-0 romp.

If Cincy fans think they've got it bad, Dodger fans have it worse. St. Louis peeked away from behind for an 8-7 victory over Los Angeles.

Pittsburgh beat Milwaukee 7-6 in the only other game played in the NL. Chicago-Philadelphia was rained out.

Five In One Inning

The Giants had just one hit in the first seven innings against Cincinnati ace Joey Jay, but it was a leadoff home run by Joe Amalfitano and it was good for a 1-0 lead behind Marichal. San Francisco made it 2-0 in the eighth and made it a rout in the ninth as Orlando Cepeda, Felipe Alou, Jim Davenport, Willie Mays and Johnny Orsino hammered homers off Jay (18-8), the loser, and bullpen aces Jim Brosnan and Bill Henry.

The five home runs in one inning tied the major league record set by the 1939 Giants and tied by Philadelphia in 1949. The 12 runs set a modern major league record for ninth-inning scoring, breaking the mark of 11 held by the Giants (1934), Braves (1950) and Yankees (1951).

The Cardinals didn't get the lead until the eighth inning at Los Angeles. That's when they chased Don Drysdale and beat reliever Ron Perranoski in a four-run rally triggered by home runs from Bill White and Ken Boye and capped by Curt Flood's winning single. Ed Bauta won his first major league decision in relief.

Bob Skinner's inside-the-park home run gave Pittsburgh a 6-6 tie in the eighth, and the Pirates then made it two in a row over the Braves on Dick Stuart's two-out single in the ninth against reliever Don Nottebart (4-7).

But His Triple Beats Angels In Tenth, 8-6

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roger Maris missed his 51st home run by only a few feet with a 400-foot drive that fell for a tie-breaking triple Wednesday night as the New York Yankees defeated the Los Angeles Angels 8-6 in 10 innings and regained a three-game lead in the American League race.

Cleveland stopped the second-place Tigers, who had won five in a row, 4-2 on a fifth-inning home run by Johnny Temple.

Baltimore outlasted Kansas City for a 7-5 victory in 12 innings, Minnesota rapped the Chicago White Sox 4-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Camilo Pascual, and Boston belted Washington 9-4.

Maris, who walked three times, struck out once and grounded out in his first five trips to the plate, capped a Yankee comeback with his 10th-inning wallop off losing reliever Jim Donohue (4-6). The triple scored Billy Gardner, who reached base on a fielder's choice, and Maris then came across on a wild pitch. Maris now is 12 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace of 1927 and four home runs ahead of teammate Mickey Mantle who struck out three times, walked twice and doubled.

Ford Is Routed

Bill Skowron was the Yank slugger, driving in four runs, three with a sixth-inning home run after the Angels had built a 6-1 lead against 21-game winner Whitey Ford.

The Indians ended their losing plunge at four on Temple's tie-breaking, two-run shot off Don Mossi (13-3), the Tigers southpaw ace. Barry Latman (10-3) and Frank Funk checked Detroit on six hits, one Rocky Colavito's 34th home run.

Jim Gentile powered the Orioles. The slugging first baseman walloped two home runs, for a total of 38, a single and a double. He came across with the winning run on Ron Hansen's single after he had opened the 12th with his two-bagger off losing reliever Bill Kunkel (2-3). Billy Hoeft (4-3) was the winner.

The White Sox managed no more than a second-inning single by Al Smith and a two-out, ninth-inning single by Sherm Lollar off Pascual (11-13), who struck out six and walked three for his fifth shutout. A two-run single by Zoilo Versalles settled it for the Twins in the second inning against Cal McLish (8-12).

New 18-Hole Golf Course Planned in Town of Saugerties

NUMBER FIFTY FOR ROGER — Yankee outfielder Roger Maris is congratulated by Mickey Mantle as he crosses home plate on his 50th home run of the year. His blast, in the sixth inning of game with Los Angeles, was a liner over the center field wall of Wrigley Field. Mantle has clouted 46 homers to date. Billy Gardner (12) was on base when Maris connected. Angels beat the Yanks, 4-3. (AP Wirephoto)

New Jersey Man Heads New Group; Set 1963 Opener

Plans for a new 18-hole golf course and country club in the Town of Saugerties were announced today.

The new country club is expected to be ready for the 1963 season and will be located on some 100 acres or more adjacent to a site which had been proposed for an Ulster County community college.

Heading the new development on the former Winston property is Ferdinand Schaller, reputedly a New Jersey sausage king.

According to information available, contracts have been signed and the golf course will be laid out by Hal Purdy of Kingston, who is well known in the field. He is currently adding nine holes to the Columbia Country Club layout at Claverack in Columbia County.

No name has yet been selected for the proposed country club.

Tentative plans call for charter memberships at $1500 each, payable at $300 each year.

Today's announcement climaxes long rumored expansion plans in Ulster County.

The current site was under consideration several years ago when officials of the old Wiltwyck nine-hole course were looking for a new location.

Deadline Approved

It was later reported that Robert Trent Jones, internationally famous golf architect who laid out Wiltwyck Country Club, had an option on parcels of land in that area.

Some time ago the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce started a movement toward a new golf country club in the township, but plans did not materialize.

The announcement of plans for the new club co-incide with long standing reports that The Twaalfskill Club has only a few more years remaining on its present lease. There have been reports that a Kingston group was seeking a location for a new course, but no specific plans were ever announced.

Woodstock Country Club, which is bursting a the seams with an all-time high membership of 170, finds itself in a predicament similar to that of Twaalfskill. The Woodstock facilities are owned by a holding company and a long-term lease is due to expire within the next four years.

Renewal of the lease has been assured by the holding company, it is reported.

There are now four private clubs operating in the Ulster county area—The Twaalfskill, Wiltwyck, Woodstock and Shawangunk in Ellenville. Rip Van Winkle Country Club at Palenville and Lake Mohonk are operated as semi-private clubs.

There is no public or state operated course on the west side of the Hudson river, although there are several on the east side, particularly in Dutchess county.

FIRES GENERAL MANAGER — Kansas City owner Charles O. Finley smiles at Chicago press conference after announcing he had fired the team's general manager, Frank Lane. Finley accused Lane of spreading harmful rumors about the Kansas City team. (AP Wirephoto)

Mrs. Schwarz 'Beats the Pro' With Net 69 at Woodstock CC

Mrs. Kermit Schwarz posted a net 69 to beat pro Jim Hutchins in the Woodstock Country Club's Beat the Pro tournament this week.

Hutchins had toured the course in 2-over-par 72.

Mrs. Schwarz put together a pair of 48's for 96 gross and had 27 handicap. Mrs. Walter S. Van Wagenen tied the pro with net 72 on 97 gross and 25 handicap.

Tied for third place with net 75's were Mrs. Alex Sharpe Jr., with 100-25-75 and Mrs. Floyd De Witt, 109-34-75.

Mrs. J. Carson Hutchins, the pro's wife, netted 76 with 91-15. Mrs. Thomas H. Dendy shot 101-24-77 and Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons finished with 98-19-79.

Mrs. Schwarz's name will be engraved on the Beat the Pro trophy, along with those of Mrs. Claude Needes (twice); Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons, Mrs. Inger Walker and Mrs. Joseph Forno.

Cicada Scores Saratoga Win

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) —A field of six, headed by Amble Diver, was ready today for the ninth running of the $10,000 Lovely Night Hurdles Handicap at Saratoga Race Track.

The wide-open renewal, over 2 1-16 miles, will be worth $7,410 to the winning owner, if all nine start.

Amble Diver, owned by F. Ambrose Clark, won the Saratoga National Hurdle, here Aug. 11. Deroual, second in the National, and Gallant Tohto, seeking his third straight win of the meeting, were Amble Diver's main threats.

On the flat track Wednesday, Cicada scored a narrow victory in the 70th running of the Spinaway. Cicada forced her way through close quarters in the stretch and outgamed Pontivy by a neck. Jazz Queen was third in the field of eight top 2-year-old fillies.

Leafs Lock Up Playoff Berth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto seems to have locked up the fourth playoff spot in the International League.

The Maple Leafs received another fine performance Wednesday night as Cal Browning pitched a five-hit shutout en route to a 13-0 victory over Syracuse. It was Toronto's 18th win in 28 games under Tim Thompson who took over as manager on August 4 and increased their lead over fifth place Rochester to three and half games.

In other IL action, Charleston and Columbus split. Charleston walloped the jets in the opener, 9-1 but the league leaders rebounded to take the nightcap, 1-0. Rochester halted Buffalo's winning streak at six games with a 4-2 victory and Richmond outlasted Jersey City in 10 innings, 9-9.

Momentum Going For Giants Now

CINCINNATI (AP) — Momentum is going for the San Francisco Giants in their drive to repeat their comeback dash of 10 years ago to the National League pennant.

"We have it now and it's because we've been getting good pitching and good hitting," said Manager Al Dark.

The rookie manager was the New York Giants' shortstop when they erased a 13½-game deficit on Aug. 11 to win their miracle 1951 pennant.

Now his Giants have spurted to within four games behind the league leading Cincinnati Reds and are only 1½ games behind the second place Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Giants rattled off their sixth straight victory Wednesday night, beating the sagging Reds 14-0 on Juan Marichal's three-hit pitching and a record 12-run rally in the ninth inning. Six Giants hit home runs, five in the ninth.

It was the fifth straight loss for Freddie Hutchinson's Reds, who a week ago had as much momentum and brilliant pitching as the Giants. The Dodgers lost for the ninth straight time, 8-7 to St. Louis.

Dark is shunning all mention of the '51 Giants in comparison with his current club.

"I'll think about the similarity around Sept. 15," he said.

San Francisco was 10 games out of first on Aug. 6. The Giants have regained six games by winning 13 of their last 15.

Johnstown Red Sox Find the Combination

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Johnstown Red Sox used three pitchers Wednesday night in finding the right combination to stop an eighth-inning rally by league-leading Springfield. The Red Sox won, 6-5.

In other EL games, Binghamton beat Reading 9-0 in the first game of a double header, but lost the second 7-5. The Williamsport-Lancaster game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Binghamton's Dick Dumas (8-7) allowed three hits in shutting out Reading in the opener. Charlie Keller hit his 17th homer of the season.

Decker Running Hot Streak in Amateur Golf

By JACK HEWINS

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Because of the brilliant golf she is playing Anne Quast Decker of Seattle took up the role of favorite today as the USGA Women's mateur Golf Championships reached the quarterfinal round.

Mrs. Decker, the 1958 champion, was five under women's par Wednesday for the 29 holes it took her to eliminate two contenders.

Another former champion and a 14-year-old nicknamed "the Tiger of Tampa" were posting the most serious challenges as the field dwindled to eight players.

Roberta Albers, 14, Tampa, Fla., moved into the quarterfinals with a 5 and 4 victory over Judith Eller, Old Hickory, Tenn. Miss Albers has won impressively in every match to date.

Barbara McIntire of Jupiter, Fla., who won the American crown in 1959, defeated Marianne Gable of Arcadia, Calif., and Barbara Williams of Richmond, Calif., by the same 5 and 4 scores.

Judy Hoetmer of Seattle, the National Collegiate champion, trounced National Junior champion Mary Lowell of Hayward, Calif., 5 and 4, and Sandra Spuzich, Indianapolis, 1-up.

Mrs. Decker beat Judy Rand of Aurora, Ohio, 6 and 5, and Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., 3 and 2.

Tenth Victory For Riddle Todd

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Riddle Tood scored his 10th victory in 12 starts in the $3,000 Tupper Lake Trot at Saratoga Raceway.

Robert Silliphant was in the sulky as Riddle Todd trotted the 2:04 3-5 mile to return $2.60.

In Wednesday night's richest race at New York harness tracks Demon Damsel took the $12,000 Cadillac Pace by a length at Yonkers Raceway and paid $4.40. George Phalen had the reins for Damsel's 2:03 1-5 mile.

In other features:

Batavia Downs — Bruce Western ($19.10), 2:07, Tom Wilburn driving, an 8-1 shot in the $2,350 handicap pace.

Monticello Raceway — Meadow Vision ($6.30), 2:07, Austin Galentine driving, in the $2,800 handicap pace.

Vernon Downs — Joel ($2.70), 2:02 2-5, Dick Thomas driving, in the $2,000 Class 24 pace.

Engle to Report For Grid Practice

Marv Engle of Kingston will be one of 60 candidates reporting for football at Rutgers University next Thursday. The senior is expected to be a starting end under Coach John Bateman this season.

The Scarlet posted an 8-1 record last season, the first under Bateman. Sixteen lettermen will report from that club plus 26 newcomers and 18 reserves. The breakdown shows 27 backs, 24 linemen and nine ends.

Mexican Hurls LL No-Hitter

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Until last year, young Rafael Reyes Montemayor had never thrown a baseball or held a bat.

Today he is the toast of Little League baseball—no-hit pitcher and hitting star of the Monterrey, Mexico, team which has jumped into the favorite's role for the World Series championship to be decided Saturday.

Montemayor, a husky, 165 pounds, struck out 12 and held his opponents hitless in beating a team of American youngsters from the Pirmasens Army base in Germany Wednesday 4-0. He also slammed a single, double and home run.

The Mexicans, striving to recapture the title they won successively in 1957 and 1958, met El Campo, Tex., in the second of two semifinal games today. The first game, at 12:30 p.m., sent El Cajon, Calif., against a colorful little team of American-Japanese from Hilo, Hawaii.

Montemayor was weaned away from soccer by baseball a little more than 12 months ago.

"About three weeks before the 1960 season this boy came to us and said he wanted to play baseball," said the Monterrey coach, Epitacio Torres. "He had never had a baseball in his hands. He looked like a good athlete and so we gave him a chance.

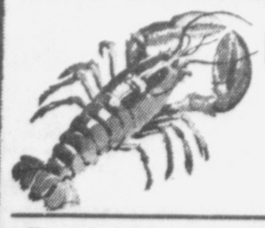

"He spent hours doing nothing but throwing at a boy wearing a big mitt. He was wild and rough. But soon he got control and before long he was our best pitcher."

Pokey Cab Driver (to obviously nervous passenger:) — Now don't you worry about that plane. It never leaves on time.

Passenger—Well, it's bound to be late this morning, I'm the pilot.

Cynthia — Oh, Lemuel, you're just awful. You sit there reading your old newspaper and not paying any attention to me. You don't treat me the way you used to. You don't love me any more.

Lemuel—Nonsense, Cynthia! I love you more than ever. I worship the ground you walk on. Your every wish will be my command. Now for Gawsakes shut up and let me read the funnies.

The artist had just set up his easel when a grizzled old mountaineer happened to come up the road.

The mountaineer shifted his chew back and forth and appeared to be thinking it over.

Artist — It's easy money.

Mountaineer — No question 'bout that, I was just a wondering how to get all that paint off afterward.

A proud mother wished to enter her 5-year-old daughter in an exclusive school where the minimum age was 6.

She can easily pass the 6-year-old test, the mother told the principal. But the teacher was openly skeptical as he said to the little girl, All right, say some words.

The precocious child looked at the man with great dignity for a moment, then asked her mother, Purely irrelevant words?

Says Senate May Cut $15 Million For Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's Peace Corps measure faces the first of a series of Senate tests today, with the outcome of a move to cut its fund authorization by $15 million in doubt.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he thought there was a good chance the Senate would reduce the proposed over-all outlay from $40 million to $25 million.

However, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, predicted in a separate interview that the legislation would ride through the Senate without substantial change.

Humphrey conceded there may be trouble in the House.

The bill would put the corps, now operating under an executive order, on a permanent basis. It is directed by R. Sargent Shriver, the President's brother-in-law.

Kennedy's program calls for putting 2,700 volunteers in training or in the field by mid-1962 to help the people of underdeveloped countries attain higher cultural and economic levels.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee told the Senate in bringing up the measure Wednesday he has some misgivings about the program. Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, brought out in questioning that Fulbright had voted in committee to cut the fund $15 million when that proposal was rejected by an 11-6 vote.

Fulbright said he was worried about the lack of "discipline and control" Shriver would have over volunteers who serve in the corps and who might "disagree publicly with the position of their government."

Rebuilding Greenkill Ave.

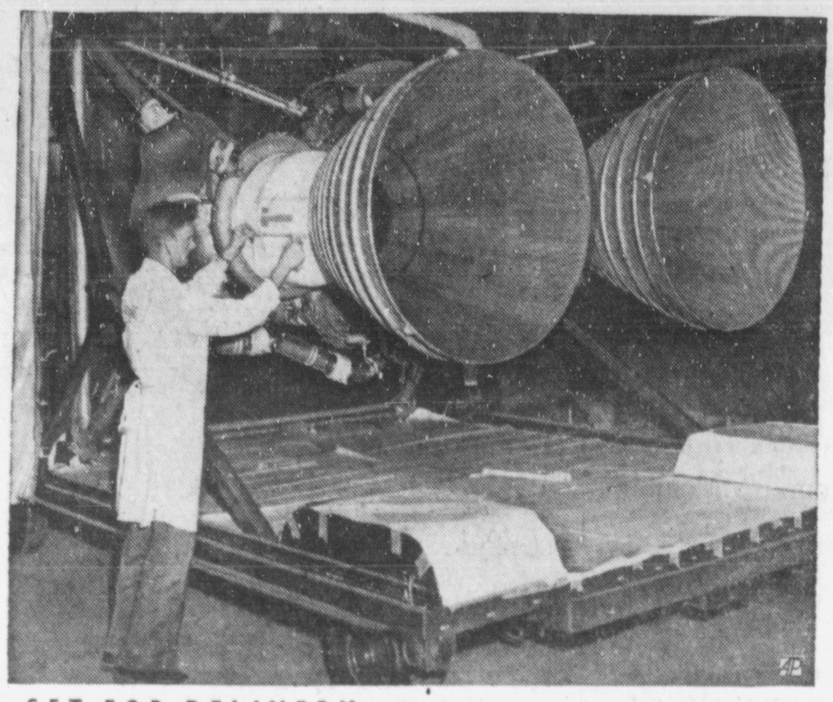

One of the city's street projects being done by contract is under way, Mayor Edwin F. Radel noted today. Greenkill Avenue from Clinton Avenue to Broadway in being rebuilt by Contractor James Berardi. The project involves curbing and drainage and the placing of new catchbasins plus regrading of pavement will eliminate damaging puddles which have caused trouble on the street for several years.

Hospital, Rest Home Sold in Canandaigua

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (AP)—The Brigham Hall Hospital and Rest Home was sold today to Howard J. Samuels, president of Kordite Co., in nearby Macedon, for a price "in excess of $175,000."

The sale, effective Jan. 1, 1962, was confirmed today by the hospital's board of directors. The hospital and rest home was founded in 1855.

The hospital presently has facilities for about 30 patients. Samuels said he intended to continue the operation of the rest home but would close the psychiatric section at a later date.

Coast Guard Tows Yawl With Lodge, Others to Harbor

BRANFORD, Conn. (AP) — A Coast Guard search and rescue unit today towed a disabled yawl carrying four persons, including Henry Sears Lodge, son of former United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, into Branford Harbor.

The 35-foot craft, the Nepenthe, was found about 6:50 a.m. (EST) on Long Island Sound off Branford, where she had developed engine trouble.

All persons aboard were safe and uninjured. The Nepenthe had been reported overdue at Madison, on a voyage from Stamford to Madison, hours before being located.

Others aboard were Lodge's wife, Elenita, 24; her brother, Henry Ziegler, 20, a New York City attorney, and a fourth person.

Lodge, who is 31, is known to his intimates as Harry. He and his family make their home in Beverly Cove in a house adjoining that of his father.

He and his wife, the former New York debutante, Elinita Zeigler, a native of Utica, N.Y., have three children.

7 Ex-policemen Found Guilty in BurglarRingLink

CHICAGO (AP)— Seven former policemen involved in a burglary ring which touched off the Chicago police scandal were found guilty by an all-woman jury on Wednesday night.

The jury, which deliberated less than three hours after a 42-day trial, recommended prison sentences of one to five years for five of the defendants and fines of $500 each for the other two. All were charged with conspiracy to commit burglary and to receive and conceal stolen property.

Criminal Court Judge James B. Parsons set sentencing for today for the five, Allan Brinn, 31, Alan Clements, 30, Frank Faraci, 43, Alex Karras and his twin, Sol, 28.

The fines were recommended for Peter Beeftink, 53, and Henry Mulea, 46. It was expected that all seven would appeal.

The case of an eighth ex-policeman, Patrick Groark, 29, who asked for a bench trial, is to be decided by Judge Parsons.

Never Any Doubt

The jury foreman, Lauretta M. Weston, 37, a post office stenographer, told newsmen after the verdict: "There never was any doubt in anyone's mind that they were all guilty." She declined to comment on the variation in sentences recommended.

The defendants formerly were attached to the Summerdale Police District on Chicago's far North Side. They were accused of collaborating with Richard Morrison, 25, who confessed a long string of burglaries, in his activities and carting away some of the loot in police cars in 1958 and 1959.

Testimony Considered

The state dropped more than a score of charges of burglary, larceny and conspiracy against Morrison in return for his testimony against the eight defendants.

Morrison's allegations in July 1959 led to sweeping reforms of the department under Orlando W. Wilson, a University of California criminologist.

Wilson was hired as superintendent after Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor resigned, saying that though he was not implicated he felt personally responsible for the activity of the eight policemen.

Morrison still faces federal charges in St. Louis in connection with the passing of counterfeit $100 bills.
